

ENVOY LIND ENTERS GEN. HUERTA'S LAIR WITHOUT TROUBLE

Special Representative of the United States Has Arrived Safely in the Capital of Mexico.

WASHINGTON UNEASY REGARDING THE ENVOY

Several Hours of Suspense Before News of Safety Arrived—United States To Wait for Lind's Report.

Washington, August 11.—John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson to investigate the Mexican situation, arrived safely in Mexico City last night, according to advices received at the state department from Charge O'Shaughnessy, of the United States embassy, at an early hour this morning. Secretary Bryan remained at his desk until long after midnight to receive the news.

Hours of Suspense.
News of the safe arrival of Mr. Lind with his wife and party in the Mexican capital followed several hours of suspense. The complete absence of any information of the progress of the party from the time it left Vera Cruz early yesterday morning added to the uneasiness, which was heightened by vague rumors of attacks on Mr. Lind and his family and associates.

President Wilson had retired when word of Mr. Lind's safe arrival was received, and he was not awakened. Secretary Bryan remained at his desk until 1:30 o'clock this morning, anxiously awaiting some report from the embassy at Mexico City. When it finally came it proved to be merely a terse announcement of the arrival of the special envoy, coupled with the announcement that he and his party were safely quartered at the Hotel Inca.

Lind Used Regular Train.
Vera Cruz, Mex., Aug. 10.—John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, and Mrs. Lind and Dr. William Bayard Hale, who have been in Mexico for some time studying conditions on behalf of President Wilson, left here at 6 o'clock this morning on a regular passenger train bound for Mexico City. They are due at the capital about 8 o'clock this evening.

While in Vera Cruz Mr. Lind declined to discuss his probable actions in Mexico City or the nature of the proposal he is commissioned to make to President Huerta.

Mr. and Mrs. Lind spent Saturday evening in Vera Cruz sightseeing.

Pro-Huerta Demonstration.
Mexico City, August 10.—Students laborers, estimated to number 1,000, paraded the streets of the capital today, carrying banners as a token of their approval of President Huerta's stand against accepting mediation by the United States.

UNITED STATES TO WAIT FOR REPORT FROM LIND

Washington, August 10.—With the arrival tonight in Mexico City of John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, administration officials declared that no further steps would be taken in carrying out the policy of the United States toward Mexico until Mr. Lind had made a careful study of the general situation there.

While the president has mapped out a distinct course of action about which strict secrecy is being maintained, it is known that the instructions to be sent Mr. Lind from time to time will depend largely on developments in the Mexican capital in the next few weeks.

Lind to Act Under Cover.
Mr. Lind will make all his recommendations to Charge O'Shaughnessy so that whatever representations would be transmitted by the latter to the Huerta government will differ in no way from the notes the American government has hitherto advanced to the defacto authorities in the Mexican capital, Mr.

POLICE USE CLUBS ON SUFFRAGETTES

Sylvia Pankhurst and Her Followers Failed in Attempt to Storm the House of Premier Asquith.

London, August 10.—The third attempt of suffragettes under command of Sylvia Pankhurst to take Premier Asquith's house in Downing street by storm failed today, when the militant leader was cornered by police after a stiff fight, in which the officers used their clubs.

The trouble began after a mass meeting under the auspices of the Free Speech Defense committee, called to demand the unconditional release of George Lansbury, former socialist member of the house of commons, who was sentenced July 26 to three months imprisonment for making inflammatory speeches, but was released August 2 under the "cat and mouse" act while on a "hunger strike."

Miss Pankhurst had refused an invitation to address this meeting, when informed she would not be permitted to urge her hearers to march upon Downing street.

"Follow Me" She Cried.
Free speech orators advised the crowd not to attack the premier's residence, but at the close of their meeting Miss Pankhurst mounted the plinth of the Nelson column and in fiery words ordered her sympathizers to follow her.

Hatless, her hair bound close to her head, the young militant leader started down Whitehall, surrounded by women carrying the Women's Social and Political Union flag and preceded by a flying wedge of dockmen and other husky Eastenders. The police allowed the procession to leave the Trafalgar square, and then fell in behind. The suffragette sympathizers saw the reason for this move, when they encountered a battle line of heavy policemen drawn across Whitehall at the Horse Guards, the office of the inspector general.

Women Rushed the Line.
The militants rushed the line with such courage that a few of them penetrated the first cordon, where the fight became so fierce that the police used their clubs. Reserves appeared, and Sylvia Pankhurst and five other women and nine men were arrested and taken to the police station in taxicabs.

Disheartened at the fate of their leader, the mob sullenly dispersed. The police cleared the streets with unusual roughness. The mounted officers riding down women and children without discrimination.

One of the suffragettes, a Miss Cook, who carried a banner, said Miss Pankhurst was badly injured during the melee.

HE USED FUNDS FOR PERSONAL USE

Gov. Sulzer So Admits, But Asserts He Made Amount Good—He Denies He Ever Speculated in Wall Street.

Albany, N. Y., August 10.—After a long evening tonight with some of his close political advisers, Governor Sulzer issued a short statement denying absolutely that he ever used campaign funds for speculative purposes. He says he never heard of the stock brokerage firms of Fuller & Gray and Boyer & Griswold, alleged transactions with which figured largely in the testimony before the Frawley legislative committee, until these names were brought out before the committee.

The governor admits he did apply certain campaign contributions to his personal use, but says he made the amount good.

He also admits having transacted with the stock firm of Harris & Fuller, but insists that his account with this firm was not speculative. He denies he ever speculated in Wall Street.

The statement was given out by Chester C. Platt, the governor's secretary. Among those at the conference were Louis Marshall, John A. Hennessy, Louis Asarecky and Mr. Platt. The statement follows:

Governor Sulzer's Statement.
"In answer to the fact that the Frawley committee is about to make its report of the investigation it has been making, I am advised that it would be unwise for me at this time to make any detailed statement in reply to the matters that had been brought to the attention of the committee, but having promised that I would furnish the press a statement, in fulfillment of that promise I make the following brief reply to the matters that I am informed had been brought before such committee."

"I deny that I used any campaign contributions for personal use."

"I deny that I speculated in Wall Street or used money contributed for campaign purposes to buy stock either in my own name or otherwise."

Never Heard of Firms.
"I never had any account with Fuller & Gray or Boyer & Griswold. I never heard of these firms. I do not know the members, and knew nothing about the transactions with these firms until recently threatened with exposure, and the alleged transactions were brought to my attention by the Frawley committee."

The stock matter with Harris & Fuller was not a speculative account or matter, but a loan made upon stock as collateral, which stocks had been acquired and paid for years before my nomination for the office of governor, and from other sources than Harris & Fuller.

"Certain checks given to me for campaign purposes were deposited to my personal account, and thereafter I paid the amount of said checks to my campaign committee."

"In filing my statement of receipts and disbursements with the secretary of state, I relied upon information furnished me by the persons in immediate charge of my campaign and in whom I had and have the most implicit confidence, and I believe the statement furnished by them to me to be accurate and true."

TAX LAW CHANGES PARAMOUNT ISSUE FOR FINAL WEEK

Senate Will Undoubtedly Accept Finance Committee Substitute to Sheppard Substitute Today.

MEASURE WILL THEN GO TO HOUSE FOR ACTION

Is Believed That Some Kind of a Compromise Will Be Agreed Upon Before Assembly Adjourns Thursday.

Tax revision will be the paramount issue before the legislature during this, the last week of its present session, which adjourns on Thursday.

The senate finance committee's substitute for the Sheppard bill will come up for the vote of the senate on Monday. That the senate will adopt this measure there is but small doubt. It will then remain for the house either to accept it or hit upon a compromise with the upper branch.

The senate measure seems a fair compromise, and the hope is entertained that the house will accept it.

With the state's finances in their present deplorable condition, it is hardly in conception that the legislature will adjourn without taking steps of some sort to adjust the present inequalities in the tax system and in a measure rehabilitate the state's treasury.

Differences Between Houses

From the beginning of the session it has been more or less evident that the house has favored a system of tax equalization by county boards and without state supervision, while the sentiment of the senate has been for equalization by a state board, thus taking from the board the pressure which of necessity must bear upon county boards.

In the action of the two houses these positions have been consistently borne out, and the situation resolves itself to a compromise.

The house, in passing the Sheppard substitute to the Lipscomb bill, voted for the establishment of county boards for the purpose of equalizing the taxes.

This measure, being transmitted to the senate, was turned down, and what is believed to be a fair compromise was evolved by a substitute by the finance committee, which embodies both the county board features which the house favors and the state supervision toward which the senate leans. The senate substitute provides for county boards of equalizers, consisting of three members each, which is thoroughly in line with the sentiment of the house's views on the matter.

Tax Assessor Provided

But the senate substitute further provides for the office of a tax assessor, whose duty it shall be to pass upon the justice of the reports returned by the county boards. If in his discretion the returns are not what the property in the county justifies, he has the power to refuse to accept the returns and ask the county board to submit them to search out the discrepancies and submit another report incorporating them.

Though the state assessor and the county board fail to agree, a provision is made for the appointment of two arbitrators, one by the county board and one by the state assessor. The senate substitute, however, does not stop with this safeguard, but further provides that if these two arbitrators fail to reach an agreement, they shall be empowered to appoint a third arbitrator from a county not affected in the case and the decision of the three shall stand.

In case a taxpayer and the county board cannot agree they may refer the question to a board of arbitrators from the county and agree upon the same basis as in state arbitration.

With the practical assurance that this measure will pass the senate and be transmitted to the house, the question of the week is, "Will the house agree to this compromise measure, and if not, will the consultation of the two branches be productive of an effective tax revision measure?"

Hope House Will Accept

With the state supervision safeguarded by the arbitrators, in which the county boards have at least an equal voice with the state, it is the hope of the advocates of tax equalization that the house will accept this measure.

The legislature is fully awake to the urgency of an immediate solution to the financial question of the state, and with the splendid work it has already done in the way of disposing of its business and yet another session at which to consider the undisposed-of calendar, it may well take time now to thresh out the tax equalization problem, and it is expected, will do so.

Two Bills Have Right of Way

It is, of course, impossible for the legislature with only four days of this session left to act on all the business on the calendar. Still there are many meritorious bills which their advocates want heard at this session. These advocates are now in the saddle and jockeying hard for place. The obstacle is in the rules committee and how well these are handled will decide what bills shall fall or win in the race.

The general appropriations bill, recently reported to the house for concurrence in the senate cuts, and the McCrory school bond resolution will be considered this week.

It is expected that at the meeting of the rules committee Monday morning

U. S. CRUISER DES MOINES RUSHES TO VENEZUELA

Americans in Venezuela received with joy the word that the United States government had ordered the armored cruiser Des Moines to the port of Caracas because of the revolution started by ex-President Castro. In consequence of the invasion of the country by forces under the leadership of Castro the federal council has authorized President Juan Vicente Gomez to assume dictatorial powers until the movement is crushed. Official dispatches say that an invading force from Colombia, under the command of General Rosario Gonzalez, has been driven back on the frontier of the state of Tachira. On the other side of Venezuela revolutionists commanded by a son of General Torres Castro, a brother of Cipriano, attacked Macuro on Tuesday and were defeated by government troops led by General

Record-Breaking Drinking, Smoking And Cardplaying of American People Filling Vaults of Federal Treasury

Internal Revenue Collections For Fiscal Year Just Ended Greatest in the Country's History.

By John Corrigan, Jr.
Washington, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Georgia's internal revenue taxes for the fiscal year, which ended June 30, 1913, amounted to $523,632, according to the figures of Commissioner Osborn, made public today.

The wealth of gold and silver and paper money filling the vaults of the federal treasury is due in no small measure to the record-breaking drinking, smoking and card-playing of the American people.

Details of the sources of the $544,424,453 collected in internal revenue taxes during the year ended June 30, the greatest in the history of the country, by $21,898,000, were disclosed today in the report to Secretary McAdoo by Commissioner Osborn.

The 143,320,000 gallons of whiskey and brandy consumed during the year brought in $157,542,000, the 65,246,000 barrels of beer, porter and ale netted the government $65,246,000; the 14,276,771,000 cigarettes smoked, increased the revenues by $17,846,000; the 7,699,038,000 cigars puffed away benefited Uncle Sam to the extent of $23,037,000; the chewing and smoking of 494,353,000 pounds of tobacco gave him $23,345,000; taxes on 33,209,000 pounds of snuff amounted to $2,657,000, and the sale of 32,764,155 packs of playing cards, an increase of 1,852,475 over the previous year, brought $656,232.

Taxes on 4,172,000 pounds of artificially colored oleomargarine amounted to $417,000 and on 138,986,000 pounds of uncolored oleomargarine to $247,000. This showed an aggregate increase of 16,906,000 pounds in the consumption of oleomargarine compared with last year. The use of 38,742,000 pounds of process or renovated butter, a decrease of 6,274,000 pounds, gave the government $97,000. The manufacture of "filled cheese" apparently has disappeared. While the treasury collected tax on 38,000 pounds a year ago, none was collected during the fiscal year of 1913.

The aggregate number of saloons in the country this year was 194,590, a decrease, despite the increased consumption of intoxicants of 21,554, as compared with the fiscal year 1912. Wholesale liquor dealers numbered 6,452, a decrease of 650 within a year. Total internal revenue receipts of 1913 by $21,898,000 and the collections of 1912 by $22,898,000. To collect the enormous sum it cost the government $5,483,000.

PINNED BENEATH AUTO AND BURNED TO DEATH
Powerless to Rescue, Four Friends Witnessed Cremation of Davis.

Troy, Ala., August 10.—Q. P. Davis, of Elba, Ala., met a horrible death at a point between here and Montgomery early today when he was pinned beneath the wreck of his automobile and burned to a crisp. J. H. Ham, Tom Crawley, Horace McBride and Alto Bullard, who were in the car with Davis, were forced to witness the tragedy they were helpless to avert.

The car was running at a high speed when a tire burst, throwing it into a deep ditch. The machine turned turtle and Davis was pinned beneath it. Gasoline from the tank was ignited by the oil lamps and Davis' companions, who had been thrown clear of the wreck, were powerless to rescue him. Ham and Bullard received minor injuries. Davis owned the car. His charred body was taken to Montgomery and thence to Elba.

ing the McCrory measure will be recommended for the consideration of the house on Monday.

Other measures which seem to be well up in the running for a hearing at this session of the legislature are the appropriation of $30,000 for a home for wayward girls; the indeterminate sentence bill; the reconsideration of the constitutional amendment levying a special tax for the payment of school teachers; the establishment of a state highway commission; the granting of the right to each county to fix the compensation for county treasurers; and a number of insurance measures.

CURRENCY REFORM MEETS REAL TEST IN HOUSE CAUCUS

Plans of President Wilson for New Banking System Will Be Passed on Today by the Democrats.

LEADERS SAY CAUCUS WILL SUSTAIN WILSON

Hard Fight Will Be Made by Certain Democrats for Agricultural Currency—Slow Progress on Tariff Measure.

Washington, August 10.—President Wilson's currency plans will meet their first real test tomorrow, when the administration currency bill will be laid before a democratic house caucus. The bill goes in with three adverse democratic votes from the banking committee, and with a well organized opposition against many of its features, within the democratic ranks.

The president has been assured by his advisers in congress that the measure can be passed in the house without material change, and he has not altered his purpose to insist upon currency legislation at the present special session. The house caucus is being awaited with keen interest, because of the anticipation of a determined effort to delay consideration of currency reform and to make important changes in the bill.

The efforts of the president and Secretary McAdoo to align sentiment in the senate in support of immediate currency legislation have been less successful than in the house. However, if the democratic leaders succeed in lining up a strong majority in the house caucus tomorrow on the support of the bill and secure the approval of the measure without change, it is hoped that the effect upon the senate will be to induce reluctant democrats to agree to immediate legislation.

Fight Over Tariff Schedule.
While the banking bill is thus thrust to the front at the beginning of the week, it will not displace the tariff in the activities of the congressional week. The senate has reached some of the most important sections of the tariff revision bills, and within the coming week that body is likely to find itself in the midst of the fight over the sugar tariff, agricultural products and possibly the woolen schedule.

These portions of the bill will bring out the first important activities of Senator LaFollette, and are counted upon also to show the first definite alignment among the progressive-republican forces in support of a substitute for the democratic tariff rates. The progressive-republicans have attempted to reach an understanding over substitute sections, and it is believed they will go into the sugar, wool, cotton and other contests with an organized program to which they will try to win all republicans and a few democrats.

Slow Progress Worries Democrats.
The slow progress made during the last week on the tariff bill has discouraged many of the democratic leaders. No predictions are made now as to the probable dates for the passage of the bill, or the end of the special session. But for the determination of the president that currency reform shall be taken up, the republicans were not expected to receive

MURDER EVIDENCE MAY BE CONCLUDED BY NEXT SATURDAY

Trial May Have Reached the Point By End of This Week Where Lawyers Will Begin Their Argument.

FIERCE ATTACK COMING ON HARRIS TESTIMONY

The Defense Will Also Make Every Attempt to Break Down Story Told by Jim Conley, Negro Sweeper.

The main points which the defense in the case of the state against Leo Frank, charged with the murder of Mary Phagan, will place before the jury in rebuttal of the prosecution will be given this week and by Saturday it is expected that the trial will have reached the point where the lawyers will begin their arguments.

What the defense has in view, Attorneys Luther Rosser and Reuben Arnold are naturally silent about, and whether or not they have something hitherto unknown that they will spring suddenly upon the state remains to be seen as the trial progresses.

At present there are three things that it is practically agreed that the defense will attempt during the next few days.

Attack on Dr. Harris.

The testimony of Dr. H. F. Harris, who placed the time of the girl's death by the condition of the contents of her stomach, the damaging story of Jim Conley, whose testimony is the only direct evidence against the defendant, and the vital issue of the time of murder, will certainly receive the fiercest attack of any other phases of the state's case.

There are many other features of the state's case that will be fought and there are many points for the defense which are expected to be placed before the jury between Monday and Saturday, but it is known that the defense has made extensive preparations to break down the three points above named.

The defense is also expected to bring evidence in an effort to convince the jury that the elevator was not used on Saturday and thus prove the lie to that part of Conley's story in which he claims he and Frank carried the body from the second floor to the basement on the elevator.

Guesswork Said Childs.

Dr. Harris' testimony after his post-mortem examination has already been attacked through Dr. L. W. Childs, another expert, who, on having hypothetical questions propounded to him by Attorney Arnold, named the deductions as pure guesswork.

Through Dr. A. H. Harkness, J. N. Ellis and Willis Westmoreland, whom it is said will be put on the stand, the defense hopes to convince the jury that there is no foundation to the deductions made by Dr. Harris.

Other physicians may be introduced, but it is generally understood that these men will be the first called upon. Should the defense prove that the murder was committed later in the afternoon when Frank had already left for dinner, the way will be open for doubt in the minds of the jurymen as to many points which the state has introduced.

Through the two street car men who claim to have manned the car upon which the Phagan girl rode to town that day the defense has already attacked the statement of little George Epps, the newsboy, who claims that he rode with her, and that she left him to go to the factory for her money at about seven minutes after twelve.

Fabrication Charged to Epps.
Through a reporter who talked to Epps on the day the body was found the defense has already started in to show that the lad's story was only the fabrication of a childish mind.

That various attacks would be made upon Conley's story which the negro held to through thirteen hours of grilling, was made known when Attorney Rosser asked him concerning four conversations which he is alleged to have had with the girl.

Weather Prophecy LOCAL SHOWERS

Georgia—Local showers Monday and Tuesday; light to moderate southwest winds.

Virginia—Fair and somewhat cooler Monday; Tuesday cooler; moderate variable winds becoming northeast.

North Carolina and South Carolina—Fair and somewhat cooler Monday; Tuesday probably fair; moderate southwest winds.

Florida—Local showers Monday and Tuesday; light southeast winds.

Alabama, Mississippi—Local showers Monday and probably Tuesday; light southeast winds.

Louisiana—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday; light southeast winds.

Eastern Texas—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday; light to moderate southeast winds.

West Texas—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday.

Tennessee, Kentucky—Generally fair Monday and Tuesday.

West Virginia—Fair Monday, cooler north portion, Tuesday fair.

ed to have had with certain factory employees.

The negro denied all of them, and the first attack on this came when H. G. Schiff, an assistant in the office, swore Saturday that he had talked to the negro and told him not to be afraid.

That the other employees will be put on the stand later in the week to attest to the other conversations and strange actions of the negro is expected by the state.

Conley confessed freely under cross-examination that he had told a mass of lies during his various recitals, and even that when he made his final affidavit, which he swore to as the whole truth, that there was much which he could have told before going on the stand.

Serious doubt on Conley's entire story is hoped by the defense to come from factory employees swearing that he lied when he denied talking to them and showing fear when the case was mentioned to him before he was arrested.

Main Points Held True.

The state contends, however, that while Conley, following the bent of an ignorant negro, has told tale after tale in an effort to clear up the case without involving himself, that the main points which were wheeled out of him are true, and that the mass of circumstantial evidence which points toward it will bear it up and force the jurors to believe that the negro was sticking to the truth when he underwent the cross-examination and held to his story.

The principal speculation at present on the part of Solicitor Hugh Dorsey, his assistant, E. A. Stephens, and Attorney Frank A. Hooper, specially employed to aid the state, is whether or not the character of Leo Frank will be made one of the issues in the case.

No inkling of what the state could bring against the man's character has been given out by these attorneys, and it is not known whether they have been able to secure anything that would rebut the evidence of the scores of Atlantans who have signified their willingness to swear that Leo Frank was far above the average man in his personal character and in home and business life.

In the evidence of Conley and of C. E. Dalton, the defense recognizes that to a certain extent the man's character has already been put in issue against their will and by the testimony of Schiff that Frank never had women at the factory on Saturday afternoon and holidays and that Conley never hung around the factory on those occasions, the first attempt to rebut this has already been made.

Other factory employees and salesmen who claim to have visited the factory on those occasions are also expected to go upon the stand and deny in full the charges of the two state witnesses.

Character Issue.

Whether or not the defense will go further, and, by claiming good character for Frank, challenge the state to make a complete attack upon it is unknown. Among attorneys who daily attend the hearings to watch the conduct of the case, this point has been the subject of animated discussion, some declaring that character will be an issue and others that a denial of the specific allegations will be as far as the defense will go.

That Frank has always denied showing improper attentions to his women employees and that he asks for a complete refutation of the humiliating charges, as well as acquittal of the charge of the actual crime, makes it appear that he is willing to risk his character, fully confident that it will stand the test.

When court convenes today Schiff is expected to be again upon the stand, as Solicitor Dorsey had not completed his cross-examination when court adjourned Saturday afternoon.

At that time the solicitor was questioning the witness closely upon his testimony about the length of time taken to get up the financial sheet which the defense claims Frank made up on the afternoon of the murder.

The solicitor was attempting to trap Schiff into admitting that he had exaggerated the amount of work and the time necessary, and should he succeed in this today, he would have broken down one of the strongest and best pieces of evidence which the defense has. Schiff was apparently unperturbed, and was answering most of his points with clearness and rapidity, and it remains to be seen what the solicitor will accomplish by the cross-examination.

MRS. KROUSE IS DEAD

Body Will Be Taken to Oakland Cemetery for Interment.

A telephone message received in this city Sunday conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of Mrs. Susie J. Krouse, of Atlanta, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Thomas L. Woodruff, in Birmingham, Ala., Saturday night.

Mrs. Krouse was at all times interested in benevolent work, and was for many years secretary of the Home for the Friendless. She was a daughter of Judge John Appleby, of Fayetteville, Ala.

Mrs. Krouse is survived by her husband, Harry Krouse, pioneer real estate dealer of Atlanta; one son, J. A. Krouse, of Atlanta; one daughter, Mrs. T. L. Woodruff, of Birmingham, and two sisters, Mrs. Jessie McGee, of Rome, and Mrs. Ashford, of Gainesville.

The body will reach Atlanta this afternoon on the Birmingham special at 2:30 o'clock, and will be conveyed direct from the Terminal station to Oakland cemetery for interment.

Jurors Have a Great Time Playing Jokes on Deputies

Coats off and collars and ties flung carelessly on bedposts and convenient chairs the twelve jurors in the Frank case and Deputies Foster Hunter and Bob Deavours, in charge of them, were taking a comfortable afternoon rest Sunday when suddenly a woman's voice in a plaintive key called loudly from the street, "Oh, Bob, Bob Deavours!"

The deputy rushed to the window and looked in vain. As he turned back to the room the gruff voice of a man repeated the call from the hall door, he rushed over there and flung the door open, only to hear the first voice call him from the other room.

By that time Deavours was thoroughly alarmed and several of the jurymen had leaped to their feet from the beds and cots on which they had been dreamily listening to F. E. Winburn talking with the piano keys.

Bumps His Head.

Deavours rushed into the room from which he had heard the final call and went so rapidly that he stumbled and bumped his head against a bedpost. He was trying to convince himself that there must have been something else besides ice water in that last pitcher when the bellboy had brought up when he noticed that the jurors and Deputy Hunter were convulsed with laughter and that one man had not got off his comfortable position across a bed.

He looked at the man on the bed for an explanation and then a voice from a table in the middle of the room said, "Bob, oh, Bob, there's one of these here ventriloquists summers round here."

The cause of all the trouble was A. H. Hensley, who bears the euphemistic title of "Big Newt," and who had hitherto concealed his ventriloquist powers from the others.

It was only when the fun had subsided and those who had been holding their sides as they laughed at the deputy recovered from their mirth that the big lump on the side of the deputy's head was noticed and then there was no more assiduous in bathing it than was that of a gift of voice had started the commotion.

The lump, however, proved to be only a cause of a few moments' worry and the deputy spent the rest of an hour laughing at the joke played upon himself.

It was told it to the newspaperman Deavours declared that if the joke was ever published on him he would certainly study the art of throwing his voice, and would run the reporter out of the sheriff's office some day with six imaginary bill collectors after him.

Holds Child in Arms.

Sunday was a quiet day with the jury. There had been only one cause of worry. That was the illness of M. J. Johnson's little baby and Saturday night the juror had been allowed to hold the child in his arms and satisfy himself that it was fully recovered. It was the first time in two weeks that he had seen it and his anxiety over its condition had been felt by every one of the others.

The monotony of the day of rest from seven hours a day in the jury box was relieved by Juror Winburn's talent on the piano, which has been moved in the room and by Bible reading by another juror.

In the afternoon Howard Smith, son of Juror F. V. L. Smith, arrived with a baker's dozen of cup custards, more than enough slices of lemon pie to go around and pickaninies for all declared was the best home-made candy ever tasted. It was the gift of Mrs. Smith and no dainties of a housewife were ever more enjoyed and appreciated.

Sunday night, shortly after supper, Deputies Charles Huber and A. F. Pennington, who relieved the other two deputies, took the jurors for a long walk, as has been the custom every evening when the weather permitted.

Not one of the men who jury duty has confined for a fortnight now, has suffered the least discomfort from the trying habits enforced upon them and all of them are in the best of spirits. A sort of fellowship has sprung up that has cemented the twelve and made them fast friends and they know each other and the deputies in charge of them by their first names.

One of the jurors has been slighted by his fellows in the matter of a title and they range from "Judge Roan" to "Big Newt."

CURRENCY REFORM MEETS TEST TODAY

ans undoubtedly would withdraw much of their opposition to the bill and permit its speedy passage, convincing them they were unable to amend it by any extended fight.

With the prospect of currency legislation ahead of them, however, the republican senators have made it evident that they will oppose the bill over the tariff until the currency bill is through the house.

Meantime the death of Senator Johnston has left a scant majority on the democratic side, which is giving the leaders some apprehension, although the ultimate passage of the bill is still considered secure by a vote of 48 to 47. The actual democratic strength in the senate is 50, but the votes of Senators Thornton and Bland, of Louisiana, are expected to be cast against the bill, because of its free sugar clause.

House Caucus on Currency.

The house democratic caucus on the currency bill begins at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and is expected to run through several days. Representatives Ragsdale, of South Carolina; Neeley, of Kansas, and East, of Texas, all democratic members of the banking and currency committee, will join in opposing Chairman Glass' favorable report on the bill. Representative Wingo, of Arkansas, another member, also will oppose certain features of the bill in the caucus, although he has given his support to the general features of the bill.

The chief fight is expected to center about the amendments favored by Representative Henry, of Texas; Neeley and others, for "agricultural currency," based upon warehouse receipts for wheat, corn and cotton. Unsuccessful efforts were made by the advocates of this plan to have it endorsed by the present and Secretary McAdoo. Since then the leaders in the movement have been organizing support for their amendments among house democrats, and will go into the caucus with a strong following.

A fight will be made to have the caucus thrown open to the public, the advocates of agricultural currency believing that publicity would greatly strengthen their fight. This contest, and that for amendments to prevent interlocking boards of directors in national banks, are expected to be the storm points in the caucus.

McAdoo Has Added Currency Reform. Secretary McAdoo has added considerable strength to the president's currency reform movement by his conference with bankers and his efforts to relieve crop-moving stringencies. Administration leaders hope that if the amendments proposed by the bankers last week, to the reserve sections of the bill, are adopted, much of the opposition now evident to immediate currency reform will be withdrawn.

With currency and tariff the only important subjects actually before the two houses of congress, Mexican matters and the long continued lobby investigations divided interest with them in the activities of members of the two houses. It is expected an effort will be made to keep discussion of the Mexican situation out of the deliberations of both houses this week, so that the president's Mexican policies can be developed without embarrassment.

The lobby investigations by the senate and house committees will be resumed tomorrow, with the prospect of lively sessions on the house side, where Martin M. Mulhall will be interrogated as to his relations as a "lobbyist" with members of congress. James A. Emery, counsel for the National Association of Manufacturers, by which Mulhall was employed, will continue on the stand before the senate committee.

PROTESTANT SYSTEM DECLARED A FAILURE

Roman Catholic Archbishop
Keane Says His Church Is

Milwaukee, Wis., August 10.—Cardinal Gibbons formally opened the twelfth annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic societies here today with a celebration of pontifical high mass at St. John's cathedral. The cathedral was packed during the celebration, while the streets outside were lined for more than a block with convention delegates. It was estimated today that 20,000 had come to Milwaukee for the convention.

Cardinal Gibbons bestowed a special apostolic blessing on delegates at the close of a mass meeting held this afternoon in the Milwaukee auditorium, at the conclusion of a parade in which more than 15,000 persons took part.

On the reviewing stand with Cardinal Gibbons were five archbishops, twenty bishops and ten monsignors. Archbishop Sebastian G. Mooney, of the Wisconsin diocese, told the assemblage at the auditorium that Pope Plus X. had authorized Cardinal Gibbons to confer a special apostolic blessing on the convention.

Cardinal Gibbons, the next speaker, made a plea for co-operation between the laity and the bishops and clergy in the development of Christianity.

"Union is the law of life," he said. "An enlightened and zealous laity is the glory of the Christian church. The most luminous periods of the church's history have been epochs conspicuous for laymen who have vindicated the cause of Christianity by their eloquence, their writings and the sanctity of their lives. When the laity are united with the bishop and the clergy in the cause of religion and humanity, there is no such word as fail."

The cardinal complimented the religious work done by the federated societies, singling out the Knights of Columbus as especially conspicuous.

"Whenever calumny raises its foul head," he said, "they are ever ready like true knights to smite the enemy. Whenever an appeal is made in the cause of religion and charity, they are always foremost in lending a helping hand."

"Protestant System Has Collapsed." Archbishop Keane, of Dubuque, Iowa, in his sermon at the celebration of pontifical mass at the cathedral, declared that "the protestant system of religious truth has collapsed, while the Catholic people never rejoiced in the consciousness of an impending realization in the facts of faith and never felt the stirrings of a deeper love of the church than do those of today."

He declared the protestant church had been unable to abide "the successive strokes of Biblical criticism or to survive longer the killing analysis of its fundamental principles."

"The masses of men in non-Catholic communities and countries," he said, "write no creed and own no church affiliation. It is clear that the great contest of thought must be fought, not between varying forms of Christian faith nor between protestant sects and unbelief, but between the Catholic church and the world spirit of the near future."

He sounded a note of warning in reference to the gradual spread of a "secularist intellectual atmosphere."

Archbishop Keane declared that the Catholic societies' convention had no political program, and that "there is no present or prospective crisis which could make the creation of a Catholic party possible."

The first day's exercises closed with a sacred concert given by the choirs of churches in the city. There were more than 1,000 voices in the chorus.

O'NEAL TO NAME U. S. SENATOR

Alabama Governor Thinks He Has Authority to Appoint
Successor to Johnston.
Contest Almost Certain.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 10.—Governor Emmet O'Neal tonight, as a result of constant conference with political advisers, has about reached the conclusion that he has authority to appoint a successor to the late Senator Joseph J. Johnston at once. The preponderance of sentiment among visiting members of the United States senate and house was to the effect that Governor O'Neal had authority to make the appointment under the third paragraph of the seventeenth amendment to the constitution, which reads:

"This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the constitution."

Scores of well known politicians are here and the hotel lobbies tonight resemble a big political convention. Governor O'Neal will probably remain in Birmingham until Tuesday, when he will review the Fourth Alabama regiment now in camp here and it is regarded as not unlikely that an appointment of an Alabama senator will be made before he returns to Montgomery.

Among those most prominently mentioned as possible appointees are: Congressman Henry D. Clayton, John B. Knox, of Anniston; Congressman J. T. Heflin and Congressman O. W. Underwood. If a special election is held it is thought Congressman R. P. Hobson and Congressman Clayton will be contestants.

Differ as to Governor's Power. Washington, Aug. 10.—(Special.)—Whether Governor Emmet O'Neal, of Alabama, has the power to appoint or to call an election to choose a successor to former Senator Johnston, unless specifically authorized to do so by the legislature, is still causing comment here.

Under the constitution the times places and manner of holding popular elections for senator are still to be fixed by state legislatures, subject to the will of congress. Few state legislatures have met since the new amendment was proclaimed, to provide machinery for carrying out the new seventeenth amendment, which authorizes the governor to fill temporary vacancies.

Section 4 of article 1, of federal constitution received much attention when the new seventeenth amendment was before the senate. It provided: "The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof; but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators."

Content is Likely. Should Governor O'Neal call a special election to fill Senator Johnston's seat, the successful candidate would have a contest when he sought admission. A similar situation exists in Maryland, where Governor Goldsborough has called a special election with convening of the legislature.

Senator Bacon, of Georgia, a member of senate judiciary committee, holds very positively to the opinion that the governor must first assemble the legislature to take action on the new amendment.

Senators Kern, of Indiana, and John Sharp Williams, disagree with Mr. Bacon. Attorney General McReynolds said that in forwarding a copy of the new seventeenth amendment to the attorney general of Alabama, at the latter's request, he advised him that the governor must call the legislature to meet.

PEACE RESTORED IN THE BALKANS

Treaty Ending the War Is Signed at Bucharest—Guns
Were Fired and Bells Were Rung in Honor of Event.

Bucharest, Rumania, August 10.—The peace treaty between the Balkan states was signed at 10:30 o'clock this morning.

In honor of the occasion the city was decorated with flags, guns were fired, bells were rung and the bands played.

A solemn te deum in the cathedral at noon was attended by King Charles, Queen Elizabeth (Carmen Sylva) and members of the royal family and delegates to the peace conference. King Charles conferred high decorations on all the delegates except the Bulgarians, who declined them.

The peace treaty provides that the Rumanian army shall evacuate Bulgarian territory in fifteen days after its signature, and the Serbian and Greek armies in three days. It also provides for arbitration by Belgium, Holland or Switzerland in event of a disagreement over the delimitation of the new frontier. Bulgaria engages to begin demobilization immediately.

TACOMA IS ORDERED TO MEXICAN COAST

Washington, D. C., August 10.—Secretary Daniels announced tonight that the cruiser Tacoma had been ordered from Newport News to the east coast of Mexico to take aboard American citizens desiring to leave the turbulent southern republic. Many Americans have found refuge on board the battleship of Rear Admiral Fletcher's squadron, but as the battleships can go into a few of the larger harbors it was decided to dispatch a vessel of light draft to drop into shallow harbors along the coast.

The Tacoma will proceed at once to Norfolk for coal and then steam southward, probably to join the battleship off Vera Cruz.

What the Public Wants

The greatest students of "what the public wants" are those men who are producing something for public consumption. It may be anything from safety-pins to bedsteads, but if these men are putting their time, money and brains into turning out something that will meet the popular demand, you may be sure they are putting the best results of their experience into placing on the market an article that will come up to the requirements of an exacting public.

Not until they are convinced that they have an article that will stand the test do they attempt to sell it. Then they place it before the people in the columns of the best newspapers that they can find. You cannot afford not to profit by the work and experience of these men. SCANDALS GALORE STIR MISSISSIPPI

Gov. Brewer's Probe Reveals
Roguary and Graft in State Institutions—Many Officers Indicted and Convicted.

Jackson, Miss., August 10.—Investigation of irregularities in Mississippi's state institutions, principally the prison system, which already has resulted in conviction and sentencing of eight men, will be pressed vigorously the coming week, and it is freely predicted that the scandal which startled citizens all over the state has far from reached a climax. Governor Brewer has headed the investigation and brought charges before grand juries that have resulted in numerous indictments and convictions for bribery, graft and embezzlement. He now is investigating stories of serious conditions at all the state prison farms.

When the Scandal Broke.

The scandal broke when Lawrence Yerger, secretary of the prison board of trustees, was found short in his accounts about $25,000, confessed and was sentenced to ten years' servitude. He implicated others in his downfall, and working on this evidence Governor Brewer and his assistants have been instrumental in convicting prison officers and former officers of crimes even down to petty thefts of products raised on the prison farms of the state. He now is probing into charges that prisoners on the Parchman farm suffered severely last winter because state officers at the farm sold to their own account large quantities of supplies purchased to feed and clothe the prisoners.

Charges of general laxity of performing duties at several of the farms and by the three members of the prison board of trustees resulted in the indictment of each of the three members on charges of misfeasance in office. Colonel W. A. Montgomery, a member of the board and one of the best-known men in the state, was tried on this charge, convicted, fined $100 and ordered from office. He is holding his office, however, pending appeal of the case.

Cremation of the Convicts.

Indifference to duty is spoken of in connection with the disastrous prison fire on the Oakley farm, when thirty-five convicts, trapped in an antiquated wooden "cage," lost their lives. A special state committee that investigated the fire reported general mismanagement and lack of protection for prisoners at the Oakley farm.

The chairman of the prison board, who faces the misfeasance charge, has been convicted of embezzlement. He is C. C. Smith, who now is serving a five-year sentence. He was found guilty of taking $900 he obtained on an automobile deal made for the state.

With the prison scandal stirring the whole state and prospects of a searching investigation into every state department, Leigh Watkins, a clerk in the state land commissioner's office, confessed to embezzling $325 and was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. Other convictions in connection with the prison system include J. L. McLendon, former sergeant at Hankin farm, who pleaded guilty to stealing cotton grown on the farm. He was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. Gaines Purvis, McLendon's assistant, pleaded guilty to the same charge and was given the same sentence. A. P. Miller, a wealthy planter, pleaded guilty to assisting in the theft of cotton and was fined $500.

Found Guilty of Embezzling.
There has been only one conviction so far as result of investigation of other departments. That came last Thursday, when T. H. Turley, former steward at the state insane asylum, was found guilty of embezzling $810 and was sentenced to serve two years in prison.

Until now the investigation and trials have been confined to Jackson and Brandon, but Governor Brewer and his assistants now are working at the state institutions at Lexington, Lexington, Clarkdale and Raymond. Evidence gained by the probe is expected to be placed before the grand jury at those towns soon. Governor Brewer intends first to sift out the prison situation and then take up investigation of other institutions. In prosecuting these investigations Governor Brewer has even had to look into charges that a murder had been committed in connection with the scandal since the investigations began. As far as is known the charges have not been substantiated. The scandal which has kept the state wrought up for almost two months, seems far from cleared up, according to those making the investigation.

BRYAN BROWN DAVIS DIES IN NEW YORK

Macon, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—News reached Macon tonight of the death in New York state of Bryan Brown Davis, a young Macon lawyer, and son of the late Buford M. Davis. Mr. Davis was secretary of the Bibb county democratic executive committee, and a young man with a promising future ahead of him. He was educated at Citadel and the University of Georgia, taking his law course at Mercer university, and admitted to the bar in 1908. The body will be brought to Macon, arriving here some time Tuesday.

Healey Building Will Be Complete by January

Work is actively progressing on the Healey building, and by January it will be ready for occupancy. Fronting on Walton, Forsyth and Poplar streets it has one of the best locations in the city, and is opposite the postoffice. The building will be sixteen stories in height above ground, with a basement and sub-basement. Both exterior and interior will be finished in Atlanta terra cotta. A battery of six elevators of the Otis electric traction type will be installed.

Everything about the building will be of fire-proof construction. The very latest safety devices will be installed, and everything done for the safety of the persons within the structure. The building is being erected by the Healey Real Estate and Improvement company. R. M. Walker is the contractor.

ATLANTA BOYS OFF ON VACATION TRAMP TO GREAT SMOKIES

For a two-week tramping trip through the Great Smoky mountains of West Virginia, where the only stops will be for fishing along the route, four young Atlanta men left yesterday morning. They are Tillot H. Forbes, special agent of the Northwestern Life Insurance company; Elliott Cheatham, an attorney of the firm of Batchelor & Cheatham; C. J. King, of the Associated Press, and Will Fort, son of Colonel J. P. Fort, of Mount Airy, Ga.

The young men will go by train to Frankling, N. C., the terminus of the Tallulah Falls railway, and then will strike out through the mountains of North Carolina to the West Virginia border.

The return route will be by way of Lake Toxaway and Highlands, N. C., and the young men will carry their own camping outfit and will spend the night wherever darkness may come upon them.

A. H. HODGSON BURIED IN OCONEE CEMETERY

Athens, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—Impressive simplicity marked the funeral exercises today at noon when the remains of Ashbury H. Hodgson were laid to rest in Oconee cemetery. The funeral party came in from Dillard on the train at 11:50 o'clock. The service was read by his former pastor, Rev. Dr. L. S. Hopkins, of Atlanta. Chancellor Barrow led in a touching prayer and Judge Andrew Cobb said some appropriate things to the large company grouped about the grave in the still summer noontime. The strong car lines here of the company, of which he was director, suspended the current for five minutes in honor of the funeral hour and the Southern Mfg. Co.'s cotton mill was closed all yesterday.

THOMASVILLE RECEIVES DEED FROM UNIVERSITY

Thomasville, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—The deed from the University of Georgia conveying to the city of Thomasville the school property in this city formerly used as the South Georgia College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts has been forwarded to Representative H. W. Hopkins and will be delivered by him to the officials of Thomasville upon his return home after the adjournment of the legislature.

The legislature of last year in a resolution approved on August 1, instructed the trustees of the university to convey this property to the city of Thomasville, but from one reason or another the matter was delayed until Representative Hopkins took it up a short time ago with Hon. H. D. McDaniel, chairman of the board of trustees.

Mrs. Sallie Gibbs.

Mrs. Sallie Gibbs, 18 years of age, died at a private sanitarium Saturday at 10 o'clock. She is survived by her husband, T. D. Gibbs. The funeral service will be conducted from her late residence at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the interment following in Atlanta Park cemetery.

M'NAUGHTON PLANNING TO RESUME PRACTICE

Will Take Up Medical Profession in Emanuel County. If Commission Grants Pardon.

Savannah, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—If Dr. W. J. McNaughton, who is confined in the Chatham county jail under sentence of death for the murder of Fred Flanigan, is liberated by the prison commission he may go back to Emanuel county and pick up the threads of his once lucrative medical practice.

Dr. McNaughton said today that he expected to receive a full pardon. "All I hope," he said, "is that the truth has been revealed, and all of the facts laid before the commission properly. I am an innocent man, and naturally will be satisfied with nothing less than a full pardon. Already nearly four years of my life have been taken away, and I am praying constantly that the wrong that has been done me will be righted by the granting of a pardon."

Dr. McNaughton is in ruddy health, despite his long confinement. He is a man who has led an active outdoor life, and the fact that he has not suffered from the confinement is proof of a wonderful constitution. Dr. McNaughton is a favorite in the prison. When interviewed today he had just finished assisting the county physician in performing a surgical operation on a fellow prisoner, who had been injured. The condemned man believes he can live down whatever sentiment there may be against him in his old home county. He has had several flattering propositions for his medical services, but if he is pardoned the chances are that he will reject all of these to return to Emanuel.

GREAT CROWD ATTENDS FUNERAL OF JOHNSTON

Remains of the Alabama Senator
Are Laid to Rest in Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., August 10.—Notwithstanding the request of the family that the funeral be made as simple as possible, a great crowd of distinguished men and women of Alabama assembled here today to do honor to Senator Joseph F. Johnston, of Alabama, who died in Washington last Friday.

The funeral services were held at 11 o'clock this morning at St. Mary's-on-the-Highlands Episcopal church, of which Senator Johnston had been for many years a vestryman. The remains were buried in Oak Hill cemetery. The services at the church and at the grave were conducted by Rev. Willoughby M. Claybrook, rector of St. Mary's church.

The center of the church was reserved for the family, the delegations from the house and senate, the governor of Alabama and other state officials.

Those attending the funeral from Washington included: Senators Bankhead of Alabama, Johnson of Maine, Brady of Idaho, Thornton of Louisiana, Warren of Wyoming, Catron of New Mexico, and Vardaman of Mississippi. Congressmen Taylor, Blackburn, Clayton, Heflin, Hobson, Burnett and Abernethy of Alabama, Webb of North Carolina, Austin of Tennessee, Howard of Georgia, Kelly of Michigan, Bell of California, McKellar of Tennessee, Morton of North Dakota and Charles Higgins, sergeant-at-arms of the senate; Robert B. Gordan, sergeant-at-arms of the house, and Joseph Slinett, doorkeeper of the house.

The floral offerings were far the most elaborate ever seen in Birmingham, and included tokens from President Wilson, the senate and house and confederate bodies with which the deceased senator had been associated.

Temporarily Handicapped.

REPAIRING ALABAMA STREET.

A petition has been signed by practically every property owner on Alabama street from Whitehall to Central avenue, asking that the city authorize the repaving of the street at once.

Well-known property owners like Judge George Hillyer and Dr. E. L. Connally have signed for their property. Their reputation for conservatism and business caution is such that this in itself should be enough to justify the wisdom of the movement.

One after another of the property owners along the street very promptly affixed their signatures to the document and it is probable that no stronger paper was ever presented to council asking for the repaving of a street.

If ever there was a street that needed repaving it is Alabama, between Whitehall and Central avenue. This necessity becomes more urgent with the removal of several large houses to the new commission block on Central avenue, and with the extension of the L. & N. yards.

Council will no doubt give the petition favorable consideration. The work should be among the first of that scheduled for the new year.

PRESERVING RURAL BEAUTY.

The charm of the village of Coldharbour, England, until recently, was a noble old elm and a Spanish chestnut. These stood near the school building. A new coal bin was needed. Before the more intelligent villagers knew what had happened, those two beautiful trees were cut down, destroyed forever, to make room for a miserable, dirty, little coal bin which might better have been dug in the basement, or put elsewhere.

It will take Almighty God one hundred years to grow another tree like that elm. The dingy coal bin can be duplicated by a simoleon any day.

Much the greater part of our own country is yet rural and uncrowded. It will probably be a century or two before great numbers of American people wake up to the necessity of preserving, or improving, the rural landscape.

Aside from the helpful influence of beautiful surroundings, upon the young life of sections remote from populous and well kept centers, the matter is worthy of consideration as an advertisement.

Some of our great trunk lines of railway pass through the most neglected and abused sections of otherwise prosperous states. Monotonous lines of telegraph poles—a necessity that will after a while give place to something better—are on both sides of the track. Here and there telephone lines leave the public highway, which is parallel to the railroad, and stretch themselves across an otherwise beautiful open field or meadow. This is done to save a post or two and a few feet of wire.

"What did you see between Philadelphia and New York? That must be a beautiful country!"

"Yes, some parts of it are quite pretty; but I saw, mostly, giant signboards; advertisements of pickles, pills, soups, watches and window screens."

"What did you see in Georgia and Alabama? Those states are almost tropical. There must be flowers and mossy banks and beautiful trees everywhere."

"Yes, I saw some beautiful natural landscapes and well kept farms; but often, for miles and miles, it was gullies, washed-away hillsides, sage fields, and newground stumps. In some of the pastures scarcely a tree was left to shade the panting cattle from the August sun."

In Mississippi, Virginia, Maryland—almost everywhere in America—one can tell that his train is pulling into a rural community—and sometimes an urban community—by the rubbish that hangs on the brink of a cut, or by the little outhouses that line the right-of-way. Is this the way to advertise thrift and intelligence?

Thanks to the farsightedness of the rural school teachers of America, a right beginning has been made. Children are being taught that there is more in a white oak tree than cord wood; that squirrels and song birds are not our enemies; that flowers and vegetables will thrive where dogwood and sagegrass grow; that the place for advertisements is in the newspaper.

Does it not seem strange that so many rural communities, and so many new towns, locate their burial grounds beside the railroad track? One village was observed to have two railroads and two cemeteries. One railroad was built alongside the old cemetery. The town located the new cemetery beside the other railroad.

Back in the quiet hills, away from the gaze of the idly curious, is the burial place laid out for those people to use until cremation becomes a necessity.

That town is old. The gravestones in the two cemeteries outnumber, two to one, the living population. The old cemetery is sadly neglected. Its beauty has decayed. The new cemetery is a flowerless, shrubless, unfenced field. As the train passed by a bull yearling was seen scratching a rump roast against a two thousand dollar monument.

Human hearts that are alive yearn for the living natural beauty that the Creator has given to all alike. Natural beauty is the true expression of God. He who destroys natural beauty libels God and hinders the development of the finer feelings of his fellow man.

HELP FOR THE FARMERS.

Secretary of Agriculture Houston, who has shown commendably little tendency to play to the limelight since his incumbency, has acted well in extending the intelligence facilities of his department. The old "crop reporter" of the department, a monthly publication, has practically outlived its usefulness. In these days of lightning facilities for communication, by the time it reached the farmer its tidings were stale and profitless. The secretary is now going to discontinue the monthly publication and substitute for it a weekly one.

Effective immediately, a weekly news letter will be mailed out to the 35,000 township and 2,800 county reporters of the department. These men gather crop news and are, therefore, in constant contact with the farmers. They are ideally fitted to disseminate such information as the department may deem of use to the agricultural workers of the country.

The news letters will comprise information about crop conditions and prices, the discovery of new plant or animal pests, pure food decisions and those which affect users of irrigated lands and the national forests and all other phases bearing on the work of the department and the welfare of its rural constituency. It is, of course, understood that this innovation does not interfere with the daily mail and wire service by which the department, through its weather and other bureaus, is able to render such signal service to agriculture in this country.

It would be well, if, in addition to the change now decreed, the department should improve the machinery for distribution at the disposal of its correspondents. For instance, many crop reporters, having other business on hand, may be unable to get the weekly bulletins out to the surrounding territory in time to be of service. Should the government provide additional facilities to this end, the usefulness of the service would be materially enhanced.

The Autumn's Call.

Don't talk o' gizzin' summertime! I hear the Autumn callin'!

The frosty roads are lookin' prime, the hickory nuts are fallin'; Blue smoke from the cabins up and up it curls.

And the glad plantations' goin' for a straw-ride with the girls!

The reaper is a-singin' as he binds the fall.

And the birds'll have a picnic on the harvest that he leaves.

And when the day is ended and the reaper says, "Goodnight,"

We'll call the old time fiddler—swing our sweethearts left and right!

Sing goody to Summer—that's the song I'm wantin' now.

Longin' for the glitter of the 'crown on Autumn's brow;

No time, I tell you, like the golden time o' fall.

With a halloo! harvest and a "Hands 'round—all!"

A Word From Texas.

There's a man on the Oregon Journal who is winning fame as a phrase-maker. He is C. S. Jackson, and The New York Sun says "He has the distinction of starting a phrase that New York is repeating: He was preaching the get-there doctrine."

"There's a man in Portland," said he, "who was such a dead one that he was run over by a stationary engine."

Jackson said that two frogs were taking their morning exercise when they leaped into jars of jam.

"Hel-lup, hel-lup, hel-lup!" boomed one frog," said he. "From the next jar the other frog could be heard bellowing, 'Hus-tle, hus-tle, hus-tle!' In the morning the frog that yelled for help was drowned. The other was sitting on a cake of butter trying to pat it into shape to sell."

A Word From Texas.

George Bailey, long enlisted in the fight for the rights of the Georgia school teachers, says, in The Houston Post:

"The Atlanta papers are rejoicing at the prospect that the Georgia legislature will pass a law establishing the right of a mother to her child. There seems to be little hope of a law in Georgia establishing the right of the little country schoolmarm to the prompt payment of their wages."

The Young Idea.

The accomplishment of some men is thus set forth by a Georgia youngster:

"Some men go to congress, some are sent to the legislature, and some stay at home attendin' to business and makin' a livin' for their families."

Honor and Execution.

Even under the new Chinese republic some things are yet done after the old, old fashion. Some time ago Yuan Shih-kai, the president, received a letter from one of the leading revolutionists who did not consider that he had been sufficiently paid for his services and claimed that he should be made a mandarin of the blue or yellow button.

Yuan wrote to him to come to Pekin. He hastened to do so. The president then signed his diploma creating him a mandarin. But when the new dignity passed out three or four men in ambush seized him and carried him away to instant execution. It is said that Yuan claimed that the act was necessary and would have an excellent effect upon other disturbers. But he justified himself to some extent by giving before execution the desired rank of mandarin to the troublesome revolutionist, a title that will be engraved on his tomb and will ennoble all his ancestors, for in China the glory of a great citizen goes back to the line that has given him birth and does not go to his descendants to whom he owes nothing.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet

TOO MUCH ECONOMY.

"He well deserves our jeers and taunts who hasn't sense to roam far from the man made busy haunts, and call the woods his home," remarked the wild man of the woods.

"Every morning when I wake I sing a song of praise because I am here in the forest fastness, and this fact alone shows how free is the sylvan life. If I started to sing a song of triumph at sunrise in the busy haunts, the nearest policeman would come and arrest me. If then I invite me to take a sociability run in the patrol wagon."

"I was especially fortunate in my wife, and yet I couldn't stand living in town; so it is a mystery to me how men less fortunate in their wives continue to endure the urban life year after year. My wife was a woman of queenly presence and so many virtues that a list of them would make a large book, but she had old-fashioned ideas of economy. I know that in these extravagant times economy in a woman is considered a fine thing, but even the finest thing may be run into the ground, my son, and this incomparable woman married me, and she applied the word economy to saving money all the time. She was always devising ways and means, and she kept me in a chronic condition of humiliation."

"Shortly after we were married she was greatly shocked when she learned that I had paid 40 cents for a haircut and a shave. That was criminal folly, she said. No wonder people went to the poorhouse or the bankruptcy court if they paid the barber such fabulous sums."

"My mother cut father's hair and shaved him all the days of the years of their pilgrimage," said she, "and I'm going to do the same for you." Then she sat down and figured for an hour, and announced that we'd save enough in ten years this way to build a new kitchen, and hinted as much, but you know what a woman is, or you ought to know it by now."

"She went to the novelty store and bought a razor at the 10-cent counter, and the next time my whiskers were a sight to be seen, she insisted that I should have a brush that smelled of turpentine and then went to work with her tin razor. Oh, my friend, you don't know what suffering is until you undergo the ordeal of the kind."

"I applied the wire toothbrush with my teeth with a wire stretcher, and that was soothing by comparison. When she saw my face looked as though it had been run through a coal mill, and I went like a child, but she told me to cheer up, as she'd be sure to do a better job next time."

"When my hair had grown again that enterprising woman made me sit on a stool, and she placed an old horse blanket around me, and put a wooden bowl on my head, and cut around the edges. She said that was the way her mother did, and her father never dreamed of going to a barber."

"The next time I went downtown after that operation my friends gazed at my blood-bolled in my veins, and the editor of the local paper held me up to public ridicule as a man who preferred a wire toothbrush to a razor, and I was told to trim his own hair with a sausage stuffer rather than spend a quarter at the barber shop."

"Not satisfied with this, my wife began making shirts for me, saying that it was a sin to pay a dollar each for ready-made shirts, when she could make better ones at a cost of 11 cents. The goods she selected for those shirts must have been made at a sandpaper factory, and it was torture to wear them."

"They never did fit worth a cent, and the bosom was always sliding around under my armpits. She also made neckties for me, and when I looked in the mirror I saw a man with a necktie made of neckties. I wore one and looked as though I had stolen a sheep."

"I endured and suffered for a long time, and might have been living with a better wife, had she not determined to save some money by making my trousers for me. That was the last straw. No man can preserve his self respect and wear a pair of trousers so constructed that his front and his rear are going or coming. I tried on the first pair my wife made and looked in the glass and realized at once that the limit had been reached. Lowering myself from the window I saw my trousers, and I abandoned by home and fled to the forest primeval."

IT IS NOW TIME TO FIX LAW STANDARD

Editor Constitution: Now that the legislature has at last seen fit to pass a bill looking toward the betterment of conditions among the physicians of this state, wouldn't it be well for the legislature to turn its attention toward the bar of Georgia at the same time?

Perhaps no state in the union has greater reason to be proud of the history of its bar than has Georgia, but that fact only furnishes a potent argument why an effort should be made to live up to the traditions of our past. We can hope to maintain our standing only by insisting upon a certain standard which has to be maintained by all members of the bar and by all those who aspire to enter the profession.

In other states of the union, led by those sections of our country which are most highly developed and prosperous, have adopted as the best means of raising or maintaining the morale of their respective bars certain requirements which must be met by all candidates for admission, and these requirements may be divided into three groups, under three denominations: (1) Moral, (2) Educational, (3) Legal.

Requirement No. 1 is met by the presentation of satisfactory evidence of good moral character, generally by the production of affidavits signed by responsible men of the community. No. 2 is met by proving that the applicant possesses the equivalent of a high-school education, and the third is satisfied only by proof of the fact that the candidate for admission has studied law either in a law school of recognized standing, or in law office, for a prescribed period of time—generally three years—and can pass a satisfactory examination on the law.

Of course, we cannot dispense with the all-essential requirement that our lawyers be good characters. Perhaps, if we possess good characters. Perhaps, if we possess good characters. Perhaps, if we possess good characters.

Our conditions and democratic spirit forbid our requiring a preliminary academic education of a certain quality we might dispense with that, but no one can deny that we must insist upon thorough training in the law. And no man can equip himself for the law in less than three years, for no man can qualify himself to control the lives and fortunes of his fellow-citizens in less time.

All around us the legislatures of the state have responded to the insistent urging of the bar associations throughout the country and have passed statutes for the uplifting of our bars in character and intellectual attainment, but Georgia has remained quiescent since 1858. Isn't it about time we took some action along the lines suggested?

The Oldest "Best Man."

(From The Boston Post.)

A best man at a wedding at the age of 92 years is quite unusual, but that distinction goes to John M. Todd, age 92, of Portland, Me. Todd officiated as best man at the wedding of John Foster Pearson, of Boston, to Miss Grace Evelyn Aris, of Portland. Besides being the oldest best man at any wedding held in that section for many years, Mr. Todd is also known as the oldest living barber in Maine.

The World's Mysteries

WAS "PEGGY" SHIPPEN A TRAITOR?

Was "Peggy" Shippen, the pretty Philadelphia girl who afterwards married Benedict Arnold, a traitor to her country, and did she really have so much influence over Arnold as to turn the popular American hero against his friends fighting for American liberty, and into the British cause? Such has been the charge, and there seems to be some evidence to substantiate it. After Arnold had married Miss Margaret Shippen, the actions of both the soldier and his wife became so objectionable to the people of Philadelphia that a longer residence in the city of Mrs. Arnold was adjudged by the supreme executive council of Pennsylvania to be "dangerous to the public safety," and she was ordered "to depart this state within fourteen days from the date hereof (October 27, 1780), and that she do not return again during the continuance of the present war."

General Arnold's residence in Philadelphia had made him few friends. He had lived in such a luxurious style and with so much suffering of the continental soldiers to be seen on all sides. It was not long until there was an open revolt against him. He was finally transferred to West Point and the news of his going over to the enemy reached the city in September, 1780. The sheriff was at once ordered to seize his papers, which were carefully examined with a view to investigating his conduct while he had been stationed here. His effigy was carried through the streets in a cart. He was represented as having two faces. At his back stood a figure of Beelzebub in black robes, who dangled a purse of money before him and exhibited a pitchfork with which, it was explained, he was to be stung until he died for the many crimes which his thirst for gold had compelled him to commit. Arnold's seat, the old Macpherson place, "Mount Pleasant," was seized by the state to be rented for a time to Baron Steuben; his chariot and horses were sold at the Coffee house and his household furniture at the meat market.

Was pretty "Peggy" Shippen responsible in a great measure for this treachery on the part of Arnold? There was no doubt that Arnold adored his girl wife, for "Peggy" was fifteen years his junior, very prepossessing in appearance, while Benedict was anything but an ideal "benedict," being lame, middle-aged and not especially pleasing to look upon.

Arnold could refuse her nothing and when she wanted money she always got it, no matter by what means, and she compelled him to live at a rate considerably beyond his means. If Peggy's influence had ended there, no great harm would have been done. Mr. Shippen was a leader of the Tories, and his daughter was brought up a rabid one. Arnold was put to the difficult task to choose between love and honor. Was Peggy responsible for his downfall?

Then came the episode of Arnold's designed attempt to sell West Point to the British. He fled for his life when the plot was discovered. Peggy is said to have gone into hysterics when she was informed of his villainy. Her innocence was questioned and she endeavored to convince Washington and others that she had no hand in the matter; in fact, had not the slightest knowledge of her husband's treason. But it is said that soon afterwards, when she was visiting Mrs. Prevost, she is said to have said aside her mask of grief. Here is a report of her words, taken from Matthew Davis' "Memoirs of Aaron Burr":

"Mrs. Arnold assured Mrs. Prevost (afterwards Mrs. Aaron Burr) that she was heartily sick of the theatricals she was exhibiting. She stated that she had corresponded with the British commander and that through great persuasion and unceasing perseverance she had ultimately brought Arnold into an arrangement to surrender West Point to the British."

This may or may not be true, but at any rate there was sufficient suspicion regarding her conduct that she was ordered to leave Philadelphia, from whence she drifted to New York and then went to England, shunned and despised by many who had once flirted with her. The British government gave her a pension of $2,500. At length, after Arnold's death, Peggy returned to America, dying in Uxbridge, Mass., in 1834. "Peggy Shippen is probably the only American girl who ever turned traitor to her country, if she was really guilty of so doing."

THE SUFFRAGETTE

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Swarth."

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

There are many reasons why America is more greatly blessed than England. She does not have English lords, bath-tubs or weather. She does not have to live up to English history. She doesn't have suffragettes.

The suffragette is indigenous to the English soil. She is a product of the masculine line of mind of England, which does not change without the assistance of blasting powder.

The English suffragette is a woman who is trying to argue the suffrage question with Englishmen and is using the handiest and most useful arguments, including bricks, clubs, gasoline, dynamite and bombs.

The suffragette is a perfect lady, who has been reared in the lap of luxury and has been taught to go to church regularly. She has no bad habits, except that of burning pavilions and biting a prime minister. She is well educated and is able to converse with a member of parliament in four or five languages, while banging him over the head with a soda bottle. She is refined and feminine and gathers her skirts daintily about her while trying to kick a policeman in the eye. Nothing could be more restful and calming than the sight of a company of suffragettes taking tea after upsetting a motorbus, and no suffering him over the head with a soda bottle. She is refined and feminine and gathers her skirts daintily about her while trying to kick a policeman in the eye. Nothing could be more restful and calming than the sight of a company of suffragettes taking tea after upsetting a motorbus, and no suffering him over the head with a soda bottle.

The English suffragette is very severely criticised by all lovers of law and order, and replies when asked she can with a door-nick or a paving block. She doesn't waste time in arguments which she can spend in kicking down a cathedral, and whenever she runs out of mischief she goes to jail for a few weeks to think up some more. Her theory is that it has taken 1,000 years for the English peasant to persuade the English lord to share his taxes and that she doesn't care to wait for results from persuasion.

At present suffragettes are cheerfully starving themselves to death in prison.

Two newboys come down the street. One begs, "Mister, please buy this paper; I have sold only two today. I need the penny!" The other shouts, "Here's yo' paper, 5 cents; snap at that! Last one I got, but plenty whur it come from!" Which of these boys makes

CRACK SHOTS OF STATE LEAVE TODAY FOR OHIO

Georgians Will Compete at Camp Perry With Best Shots in United States.

The crack shots of Georgia's militia are off this morning at 7 o'clock for Camp Perry, Ohio, where they will compete with the best marksmen of the world. Judging from the records made by the Georgia team at past tournaments and the material the state is sending to this year's shoot it is a safe bet that Georgia's marksmen will not suffer at the hands of those from other parts of the world.

The members of the Georgia team reported to their team captain, Adjutant General J. Van Holt Nash, at the adjutant general's office Sunday afternoon, and were notified to be at the old station at 7 o'clock Monday morning to leave over the Louisville and Nashville road.

Hale Brothers Star.

They are as sunburned and keen-eyed a set of huskies as one could wish. The biggest interest centered about the three Hale brothers, of the third battalion. They are as much alike as three peas, except that Sergeant W. S. Hale is the champion of the world in the sort of shooting that will be demanded of him at Camp Perry. While his brothers, Sergeant Major E. C. Hale and Sergeant D. L. Hale, fall a few points short of his marksmanship.

In the total, possible, of 2,250 points in the selective competition, W. S. Hale made a total of 2,100 points. This record is a bit better than the one by which he won the world's championship last year, but, of course, is unofficial.

E. C. Hale and D. L. Hale ran their brother close seconds, with scores respectively of 2,041 and 2,030. While they're the best of pairs, at Camp Perry friendship and brotherhood will cease insofar as the shooting match is concerned, and if "W. S." comes back with the world's championship this year it will not be the fault of "E. C." and "D. L." for they are going out there with blood in their eyes for their big brother's record.

There are some marksmen on the team besides the Hale brothers, however, as the following records from the try-outs will show:

Captain W. T. Spratt, 1908; Sergeant W. R. Lowe, 1910; Captain J. L. Rudolph, 1902; Sergeant O. C. Holman, 1905. The lowest score in the team is 1,537.

These figures might be augmented by record of Sergeant W. S. Hale at rapid fire, which he made out of a possible 750, or ten possibilities of 50, and five 48's. This record is possibly without equal.

Nash Will Have Charge.

Under the able guidance of Team Captain Nash, who is an old and experienced hand at the game as well as a man with something of a record as a shot himself, and Major J. O. Seaman as team coach, the Georgia aggregation may be expected to place themselves on the map at Camp Perry. Lieutenant H. C. Russell, battalion quartermaster of the Fifth regiment, has gone ahead of them with a baggage car, and will run the team mess.

Captain Kimbrough, Lieutenant McCabe and Lieutenant King, United States army officers on duty with the state, have been ordered to Camp Perry for duty as range officers. In addition, Major W. E. Connelley, of the ordnance department, and Lieutenant D. R. Wynne, of Company L, of the Fifth regiment, have also been designated for similar duty at the instance of the war department.

TRAPPED BY FLAMES, SISTERS ARE CREMATED

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 10.—Geneva and Evelyn Brady, twenty and twelve years old, respectively, were burned to death late tonight near Bartow, when their home was destroyed by fire. A younger child was also badly injured, but will recover. The father and mother escaped serious injury, but the father was badly burned in rescuing the child. The family were awakened by smoke to find the building in flames. The two girls were on the upper floor and could not make their escape.

Save Your Surplus Earnings by Buying a Diamond on Easy Terms.

In order to acquire the habit of saving, it is necessary to have some systematic method of investing a certain amount regularly.

A savings account doesn't put your money beyond the temptation of petty extravagances. Should you be able to keep your savings intact for a year the interest will be more than a paltry three or four per cent, while diamonds pay 300 per cent more than this.

You can secure a diamond here by paying only one-fifth cash and settle the deferred balance in ten equal monthly payments.

Selections sent prepaid for inspection anywhere. Net prices and full particulars are given in our booklet, "Facts About Diamonds," and 160-page illustrated catalogue. A postal request will bring you both books. Call or write for them and buy now before prices advance.

Popular Georgia Shoe Salesman Rewarded for Faithful Service

Everybody who wears shoes in Georgia knows Buck Watts, who for twenty-five years has represented the Hamilton, Brown Shoe company, of St. Louis. As a reward for his faithful services he has been appointed sales-manager of Georgia for the St. Louis concern with headquarters at his home at Opelika, Ala., where he has lived for many years. Two years ago Mr. Watts developed what he thought to be serious eye trouble, but his many friends will be glad to learn that he has recovered from the same and is now in good health again.

GOV. SLATON HEARS ZACHRY CASE TODAY

Attorneys for South Carolina

Hearing.

Augusta, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—George Rembert, of Columbia, assisted by C. E. Dunbar, of Augusta, representing the state of South Carolina and C. H. Cohen, Hamilton Philinz, of Augusta, and John T. West, of Thomson, representing the defendant, are now en route to Atlanta to appear before Governor Slaton Monday to argue pro and con the four requisitions drawn by Governor Cole L. Blease for the delivery to South Carolina authorities of Julian J. Zachry.

While, under the law, the governor is not required to examine into the merits of the alleged cases against one charged with being a fugitive and for whom requisition has been drawn, it is understood that Attorney Rembert goes to Atlanta prepared to make specific showing of the violations charged in the event Governor Slaton desires to go into the merits of one or all of the cases.

Technically, it is understood, South Carolina will hold that in the pending appeal from his ruling Judge Gary exceeded his authority in granting Zachry custody of Francis, the minor child, and Zachry violates the law in taking her from the jurisdiction of the South Carolina supreme court.

The warrant for non-support is understood to be based on the fact that the custody of both children was with and the responsibility for legally residing upon Zachry when Judge Hammond, of the Georgia court awarded both children to his wife. It will be claimed, he deserted the infant child and has not sought to support it, constituting a violation of South Carolina law.

State interest in Governor Slaton's disposal of the case to be heard today, particularly in South Carolina, is in the fact that this is the first exchange of executive papers between the governors of the two states, Governor Slaton's predecessor and Governor Blease were not on an exchange basis in the matter of requisitions.

Hearing on a rule to show cause, issued by the Richmond county superior court against Zachry Friday, is set for hearing here next Friday, the rule growing out of the allegation that Zachry failed to pay the alimony due August 1, awarded monthly by the court.

ACWORTH WILL HOLD HOME-COMING DAY

Acworth, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—Annual home coming day will be celebrated in Acworth Thursday, August 21 and an elaborate program has been arranged. One of the finest bands in the state will furnish music. Some of the strongest speakers of this section will deliver addresses. The district convention of Odd Fellows and the Twenty-third and Eighteenth Georgia regiments, Confederate veterans, will also meet in Acworth on the same date and joint exercises will be held. A number of athletic events will also be features of the day's program. This day is of great interest annually, as many ex-Acworthians arrange to "come home" on this day for the big general reunion. This day is always known as merchants' and farmers' day, and all traders to Acworth participate.

Masons in Acworth.
Acworth, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—A Masonic anniversary was organized in Acworth yesterday by State Supervisor Hon. R. E. Keese. The following were elected: Wilber Colvin, commander; D. H. Collins, past commander; W. C. Humphries, vice commander; A. J. Durham, marshal; J. L. Smith, guard; E. L. Collins, sentry; G. L. Lemon, recorder.

J. O. V. A. M. of Acworth.
Acworth, Ga., August 10.—(Special.)—At the semi-annual election of officers of the local council, Junior Order United American Mechanics, last night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Lemon Awtry, councillor; J. L. Smith, vice councillor; W. H. Tanner, junior past councillor; L. R. Collins, recording secretary; G. Awtry, Jr., assistant recording secretary; W. H. Tanner, financial secretary; W. F. Nichols, treasurer.

WEATHER TO BE WARM IN ATLANTIC STATES

"The distribution of atmospheric pressure over the American continent and the adjacent oceans," said the weather bureau's weekly bulletin tonight, "is such as to indicate temperatures below the normal during the week in the northwestern states and on the Pacific slope, high temperatures the first half of the week in the southern plains states and the lower Mississippi valley, followed by lower temperatures in these regions Thursday or Friday; warm weather during the week in the Gulf and south Atlantic states; moderate temperature the first half of the week in the region of the great lakes, the upper Ohio valley and the middle Atlantic and New England states will be followed by warmer in these regions after Wednesday. In the region of drought, the middle Mississippi valley and the middle and southern plains states, temperatures will continue high during the first half of the week, while during the latter half of the week the weather in these districts will become cooler with a probability of well distributed showers. The precipitation during the week will be fairly well distributed. There are no indications at the present time of a disturbance in the West Indies."

Shaken by Earthquake.

Lake Placid, N. Y., August 10.—An earthquake shock occurred here at 12:15 o'clock today, followed by a drop in temperature of 16 degrees. The vibration was brief, but sharp.

BUCK WATTS.

CITY HALL GOSSIP

Changing Street Names.
Folks in the second and tenth wards are powerfully worked up over the proposed change of name of a certain section of McDaniel street. They want that thoroughfare to be known as McDaniel street on both ends and Oxford terrace in the middle.

Chairman Hall, of the street committee, will allow a discussion of the matter before the committee Wednesday afternoon. Lawyers and real estate men who are opposed to changing any of the old names of streets, will be present at the meeting.

School Attendance Record.
School Superintendent W. M. Slaton is the busiest man in Atlanta. He is making ready to take care of 25,000 pupils during the school year of 1913-14. Superintendent Slaton estimates that the increased attendance will be about 1,500, and that nearly every school will be crowded to capacity. He asks that parents enroll their children at the earliest possible date in order that they obtain seats. Cards of admission may be had at the school board office in the boys' high school any day from 8 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Slaton Urges Parents.
Pupils who were not enrolled last year at the close of the session in June will require admission cards. This applies also to pupils who have never attended Atlanta schools. Transfers will be issued to children who have moved out of their former district of residence. Transfers of a special nature are not permitted until three days after school has started, so parents will waste time if they apply earlier. Vaccination certificates will be required of children who have not been enrolled during the past two years.

More Teachers Wanted.
Teachers are needed, according to Superintendent Slaton. Examinations of applicants will be held in the office on August 15 and 16. New applicants are invited to take the examination. Regular teachers who have failed in one or more subjects are required to take the examination to make up for the deficiencies.

Settle Park Row.
The park board row with General Manager Carey is a fair way to be settled. Finance Committee Chairman W. G. Humphrey is said to have agreed to find $225 to disburse the contracts for wiring in Piedmont park which President Cochran charged was installed without the authority of the board. The electric light committee will meet some time this week and adopt a resolution urging the finance committee to pay for the work. Members of council take the position that more work was done in the park with less money this year, and that friction between the board and the general manager should not exist.

Playground Activity.
Joe Bean, playground director, will be General Manager Carey's assistant for a week while Miss Douglas is away on her vacation. Director Bean is preparing a report showing the progress of playground work since the first of the year.

Park Board Vacancies.
All employees of the park department who have been in the service for one year will be given a vacation of one week, with pay. The matron at Piedmont park was allowed two weeks' leave, with pay for only one week. General Manager Carey has been instructed to use his discretion as to granting leaves to the negro employees.

Dogs, Vetch Out!
City Clerk Walter Taylor will start the dog wagon out at 7 o'clock this morning to round up the nine million garbage-can and soup-bone pirates, and has instructed City Marshal Jim Fuller to accompany the official chasers on the initial trip to break them in on the job.

Stenographers' Application.
All applications for entrance in the examinations for stenographers and typists in the United States civil service, to be held in Atlanta August 18, must be in the hands of the district secretary of the commission, room 203, Postoffice building, on or before August 15, according to an announcement recently issued, or they will not be considered. There are at present two vacancies in Atlanta to be filled by successful applicants competing in this examination.

BARBER IS POISONED; WOMAN HELD IN CASE

Physician Barely Saves Life of
W. A. Waters—Mrs. W. H.
Edwards Is Arrested.

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 10.—(Special.)—The police today arrested Mrs. W. H. Edwards, following an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the poisoning of W. A. Waters, a barber. Waters had been given an overdose of morphine.

The fact that Waters had been poisoned was reported to the police by people living in a house adjoining that of the Edwards woman. The man was in a serious condition when the police got there, and only the prompt arrival of a physician saved his life.

Charles Reed, a friend of the Edwards woman, was arrested in connection with the case.

AT THE THEATERS.

Moving Pictures.

(At the Grand.)
"See the movies at the Grand" is getting to be a mighty popular slogan, and lots of people are following the suggestion. This week there will be a continuous run of pictures from 2:30 in the afternoon until closing time at night, and as a special inducement to the people to get acquainted with the price is going to be five cents. There will be a delightful program of first run pictures and features and the big new musical instrument, the Grand's seating capacity means that there will always be a seat, that there need be no waiting. The theater is delightfully cool, clean and thoroughly safe.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)
There's every assurance that the bill at the Forsyth this week will be a genuine winner. One of the headliners will be Ralph Herz, the musical comedy star in many shows. He has been induced to take up vaudeville. Another feature is to be the big novelty, "Attorneys," as presented by William A. Weston and his company. The famous Adas Family, Jew girls and two men, who perform wonderful feats in midair, will be a feature. Franker Wood and Buncie Wyde, late stars in musical comedy, will present a cunning singing and dancing novelty, and Miss Eddison and company will offer "Oh, Doctor," one of the funniest sketches ever written. The Randalls, famous sharpshooters and Branagan and Saville, in a musical novelty, are on the bill.

"NO ROOM FOR JESUS" Even Doubtful If Churches Want Christ, Says Dr. Holderby.

"No Room for Jesus" was the subject of Dr. Holderby's sermon Sunday morning at Moore Memorial church, and is, in part, as follows:
"The Jews are not the only race who have rejected Jesus Christ. They did not believe that Jesus was the promised Messiah, nor do they yet believe. But the Gentile world has rejected Christ as well as the Jews. Their sin is greater than that of the Jews, because they believe that Jesus is the Christ, and yet reject Him.
"What nation on earth would vote to have Jesus come back as He came to Bethlehem? Entire nations in America and Germany are called Christian nations, and yet they would not vote for Jesus to return. It is doubtful if the congress of the United States would appropriate a dollar for his entertainment."
"It is quite certain that the legislature of Georgia would vote to have Him excluded, because that body has recently ruled the Word of this same Jesus out of the public schools of the state."
"The city council know that they are permitting the violation of Christ's laws, and that His coming to Atlanta would break up their political schemes. No committee would be appointed to arrange for His entertainment."
"It is doubtful also if any church in America would want Jesus to return. Were He to come to some of our churches how He would break up their pride and fashion and card playing and Sabbath-breaking. All these things would have to go."
"As a proof that there is no room for Jesus in the world or in America, in Atlanta or in the churches, vice is still encouraged and protected and iniquity is winked at in high places and in low places."

New York's Hottest Sunday.
New York, August 10.—With the temperature 103 degrees in many parts of the city, New York today experienced its hottest Sunday of the summer. Hundreds of thousands sought relief at the beaches.
At 5 o'clock this afternoon the temperature dropped to 98 degrees and an hour later a rainstorm broke, accompanied by lightning and hail, which did much damage. An unidentified man was killed and ten persons injured when a tree was struck by lightning at Pelham Park Bay Athletic field.
At Rye Beach Peter Kelly, 18 years old, was killed and Frank Horgan seriously injured when lightning struck an overturned boat under which they sought shelter.

THREE STATES BURNED BY HIGH TEMPERATURES

Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma
Get No Relief From the Hot Wave.

Kansas City, Mo., August 10.—Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma saw no relief today from the extremely hot wave from which for more than a week residents of the three states have suffered. Temperatures above 100 were recorded at every point reported.

In some places tonight there were indications of rain and cooler weather. No rain fell during the day. The highest temperatures in Kansas reported today was 110 degrees at Great Bend. At that place tonight clouds were gathering, and signs were considered good for rain soon. Many places reported temperatures of 106 and 108 degrees. Topeka recorded 101 degrees. The maximum temperature in Kansas City was 100.2. Several Missouri points reported 104.
Since last Sunday Kansas has been in the center of the heat wave. The mercury rose to 98 and above last Sunday. It was 101 Monday, 103 Tuesday, 101 Wednesday, 104 Thursday, 103 Friday, and 101 Saturday. This break all August consecutive heat records for that state since the weather department was established, twenty-five years ago.

May 30 the thermometer indicated 100 Cool periods followed heat waves through June. In July the heat was terrific for days at a time. August found the state parched with drought. All the creeks in the state are dry and most of the rivers.

Reports received from reliable sources throughout Kansas indicate that the damage is not so great as would appear from the unusual conditions. Thousands of silos are scattered over the state and these rob the drought of some of its terrors. The first panic following the drought doubtless sent thousands of heads of cattle to market, but warnings from a dozen reliable sources seem to have checked these shipments.

Fatal Storm at Philadelphia.
Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 10.—A young woman was killed by lightning, a baby crushed to death by a falling tree and scores of persons were injured by flying debris during an electrical storm which swept over the city today. Trees were uprooted, telegraph, telephone and electric light poles were blown down; windows broken and buildings unroofed by the wind which blew at the rate of sixty miles an hour before the storm. The maximum temperature was 96 degrees at 3 p. m. When the storm approached an hour later it had dropped to 69. Five deaths were reported due to heat.

Duren House Burns.
Thomasville, Ga., August 10.—News has been received here of the burning of the Duren House, a large boarding house at Coolidge, yesterday. The fire seemed to originate in the upper part of the house and was supposed to be due to rats carrying matches in the walls, as there was apparently no other.

PRINTERS WILL MEET IN NASHVILLE TODAY

Nashville, Tenn., August 10.—More than 400 delegates and visitors to the International Typographical union, which convenes here tomorrow at the state capitol, for a six days' session, made the trip by automobile this afternoon to the Hermitage, the former home of Andrew Jackson. Last night the visitors held a "get-together" meeting at a local hall. Tomorrow the welcoming program will be given, consisting of addresses by representatives of the state city and local labor organizations, with responses. The "laws committee" has been in session for the past week, and it is expected that its report may precipitate a fight on the floor of the convention between the administrationists and anti-administrationists. Delegations from Calgary, Alberta, and Providence, R. I., are already here working for the convention in 1914.

By Winning From Nashville Sunday, Atlanta broke even in the series and broke even on the road trip of eight games.

WHIFFS

Great Work.

AFTER spotting the Vols two games, the Crackers came from behind and fighting all the way, won two extra inning games and broke even on the series. Sunday's victory gave the Crackers an even break on the present road trip.

Where It Belonged.

SUNDAY'S victory, was right where it belonged. The game was the play-off of the contest claimed by both clubs the last visit to Nashville. The Crackers ought to have had it in the first place and were glad to see it come that way.

Won the Series.

THE CRACKERS have the edge on the Vols for the season. Bill Smith's men capturing eleven games, the Vols grabbing nine and one resulting in a tie of the twenty-one played. We broke even at Sulphur Dell with them and won six out of ten at Poncey.

Cruel Series.

THE SERIES which open at Rickwood field this afternoon, is one of vital importance to both the Barons and the Crackers, who are now tied for first place in the league standing. A victory won in this series by the Crackers counts double, as every time they win from the Barons, they jump ahead full game, not a half a game as would be the case in other instances.

Have Hopes.

IF DOPE runs true to form, we ought to hope for the visit to Slagville. We have won the majority of the contests at Rickwood field this season. On our first visit, we took three out of four. On the last one, two out of three. A maintenance of this line that we have on the Barons and everything will look great. Besides it will make the road trip a great success in every way. The Vols are sure to be shot at the Barons in the first battle today. He ought to cop. He will with good backing.

Home Thursday.

THE LOCALS return home Thursday. They return to Poncey to finish the season, with an outside chance to finish right up near if not at the top. True, their chance is an outside one, but they have the chance, and with good backing by the home fans they may yet make a bid for the gonfalon.

Looks Fair.

THE PROSPECTS do not look too black. If the team can make as good a stand in the twenty-six games at home as they have made in the last two home series, their prospects will, even in the brief time left, brighten considerably, allowing, of course, for the fact that the Billies and the Gulls will do no better than they have been doing on the way this season. All together, let's see if we can't pull them across.

Will Help Them.

OTLEY CRANDALL, the famous relief twirler of the Giants, who was recently traded to the St. Louis Cardinals for long Larry McLean, will, with the regular work that he is sure to get as a member of Huggins' staff, make the Crackers' chances in the league, as a member of the Giants, won six or seven games and lost thirty-two in five years, an average of 56.2. And Oley is not an old man either. He was born in 1888.

What's the Answer?

PAT FLAHERTY, former Cracker and now manager of the Lynn club, announces that Patsy Harrington will not be sent along to Cincinnati until that promised $1,000 bonus for immediate delivery is actually in hand. Can it be that Patsy does not consider Garry Hermann's word as good as his bond, or does the Lynn club require immediate delivery of the money as badly as the Reds need the pitcher?

Doomed.

THE CINCINNATI HIT will not last very long. This absurdity in scoring rules, which we always maintained was a frost, will hardly be in the books next season. The scorers in all the leagues in the country that are using this hit are opposed to it and the rules committee will probably discard it and return the fielder's choice method of scoring this play for next season, or doing they will be adopting a wise course.

Praise Tommy.

W. G. FOSTER, sporting editor of The Chattanooga Times, comes out with a belated compliment for Tommy Long, admitting that he should have mentioned it before this. He says: "Tommy was running in from third on double steal when Street was kneeling at the plate, almost on the ground, for a low return from Plick. Had in fact first and torn Gabby by force. Instead, rather than injure another player, he ran thru the catcher and tagging the plate from behind. It is pleasant to observe that although the Chattanooga Atlanta clubs fight equally as hard as the bitter enemies of 1911, there is no 'dirty work' and that the game is being played to the advantage of Foster, for such a compliment."

Has Them Riled.

THE SUSPENSION of Gilbert Price by Manager Billy Smith is the subject of much discussion around the circuit. Some of the scribbles side with Price. Others take Billy's side. As for our humble selves, we have the trouble second-hand, and are not fit to pass comment. But we'll wader a hole in a doughnut that Price is back in harness again before very long.

More Jealousy.

IT IS SAID that Bill Carrigan, at present manager of the Boston Red Sox, is going to get rid of Forest Gaddy and Steve Yerkes. Why is not plain, but to a casual observer, one can see that it is a matter of jealousy only concerning Gaddy, while Yerkes has always been a close friend of Stahl's. Can you add two and two?

Many Claims.

THESE two players will never get out of the American league. It is understood that Connie Mack has made the bid for Yerkes to use him as utility man, while the St. Louis club is willing to take Gaddy right now. And there are other clubs that we might mention that could use both men. For instance, Detroit, Washington and New York.

Three Georgia Schools.

TECH, Georgia and Mercer are now represented on the Crackers' line-up. Harry Holland, of Tech; Carl Thompson, of Georgia, and John Voss, of Mercer. The latter two are strong in Birmingham today. If he makes good as strongly as Holland and Thompson have been strong in these Georgia college boys. Bradley Hays, of Mobile, is another Mercer boy.

Crackers Have Broken Even on Trip

Break Even With Alibis, Winning Sunday's Game After Eleven Rounds

By Paul W. Treanor.

Nashville, Tenn., August 10.—(Special.)—Atlanta made it an even break on the series, taking the Sunday game by a 4 to 1 score. Every game of the series was won by a one-run margin, and three times extra innings were required before a decision could be reached.

Schwartz sent three slabsmen out, Boland, the Akron recruit, being driven off the rubber in the fifth, and Beck, who relieved him, gave way in the ninth to a pinch-hitter, Fleaharty finishing the game.

For the second time in the series Gibson placed the Crackers in position to score a win, his wild peg to second in the eleventh, while Conzelmann was whiffing to catch Holtz, who got life on Perry's boot, allowing the right fielder to reach third.

He crossed the pan with the winning run when Hoffman, subbing at short, could only knock down Agler's slam, Fleaharty making no effort to cover the bag.

Battle Tied Twice.

Twice the count was tied, the Vols piling up a three-run lead only to be overtaken in the third, were passed in the fourth, sprung a rally in the fifth, only to toss the battle away through loose fielding in the eleventh.

Boland was wild, putting Cracker runners on in every frame, only to tighten up and turn them back for five innings. The blow-up came in the fifth with two walks, a pair of hits and an error.

Perry threw low to first on Chapman's roller, the catcher scoring on Conzelmann's three-sacker to center. Agler and Long were walked, filling the sacks, with none out.

Exit Boland. Enter Beck, who faced Harry Welchone. Holtz greeted the Vols' twirler with a single over second, Conzelmann and Agler scoring. Daley's great peg on Smith's fly killed Long at the plate; Bisland grounded to Perry for the third out.

The Vols scored one in the first on Callahan's single, his steal and Spratt's double to right.

They put two others over in the fourth, Gibson walking as a starter. Young singled to right. Perry moved both upon his sacrifice. Hoffman was intentionally passed to get to Lindsay, who squeezed Gibson in, Hoffman being forced at second on Agler's throw to Boland. His throw wild to first to complete the double and Young counted.

Tied in the Ninth. They got their fourth and last marker in the ninth, when Welchone fumbled Young's single, Dell pulling up at second; Perry sacrificed. Hoffman reached across the plate and drove a terrific single through Bisland's legs, sending Young over with the tying run.

Holtz and Long continued their brilliant fielding, the former robbing Gibson in the eighth by a wonderful shoe-string catch, doubling Callahan at second, while Tommy, by a great sprint, grabbed another from Gibby's bat in the eleventh which looked good for three bases.

The Vols put up a ragged game in the field, all errors proving costly.

Crackers Have Broken Even on Trip

Break Even With Alibis, Winning Sunday's Game After Eleven Rounds

By Paul W. Treanor.

Nashville, Tenn., August 10.—(Special.)—Atlanta made it an even break on the series, taking the Sunday game by a 4 to 1 score. Every game of the series was won by a one-run margin, and three times extra innings were required before a decision could be reached.

Schwartz sent three slabsmen out, Boland, the Akron recruit, being driven off the rubber in the fifth, and Beck, who relieved him, gave way in the ninth to a pinch-hitter, Fleaharty finishing the game.

For the second time in the series Gibson placed the Crackers in position to score a win, his wild peg to second in the eleventh, while Conzelmann was whiffing to catch Holtz, who got life on Perry's boot, allowing the right fielder to reach third.

He crossed the pan with the winning run when Hoffman, subbing at short, could only knock down Agler's slam, Fleaharty making no effort to cover the bag.

Twice the count was tied, the Vols piling up a three-run lead only to be overtaken in the third, were passed in the fourth, sprung a rally in the fifth, only to toss the battle away through loose fielding in the eleventh.

Boland was wild, putting Cracker runners on in every frame, only to tighten up and turn them back for five innings. The blow-up came in the fifth with two walks, a pair of hits and an error.

Perry threw low to first on Chapman's roller, the catcher scoring on Conzelmann's three-sacker to center. Agler and Long were walked, filling the sacks, with none out.

Exit Boland. Enter Beck, who faced Harry Welchone. Holtz greeted the Vols' twirler with a single over second, Conzelmann and Agler scoring. Daley's great peg on Smith's fly killed Long at the plate; Bisland grounded to Perry for the third out.

The Vols scored one in the first on Callahan's single, his steal and Spratt's double to right.

They put two others over in the fourth, Gibson walking as a starter. Young singled to right. Perry moved both upon his sacrifice. Hoffman was intentionally passed to get to Lindsay, who squeezed Gibson in, Hoffman being forced at second on Agler's throw to Boland. His throw wild to first to complete the double and Young counted.

Tied in the Ninth. They got their fourth and last marker in the ninth, when Welchone fumbled Young's single, Dell pulling up at second; Perry sacrificed. Hoffman reached across the plate and drove a terrific single through Bisland's legs, sending Young over with the tying run.

Holtz and Long continued their brilliant fielding, the former robbing Gibson in the eighth by a wonderful shoe-string catch, doubling Callahan at second, while Tommy, by a great sprint, grabbed another from Gibby's bat in the eleventh which looked good for three bases.

The Vols put up a ragged game in the field, all errors proving costly.

(Repeated From Constitution of August 10th.)

This Announcement Is of Vital Interest to Everyone In Atlanta Who Has An Un- filled Want of Any Nature Whatsoever

Every Man, Woman and Child Should Read All of It!

The Constitution inaugurates with this issue a much improved and greatly simplified system for the classification of its "WANT ADS."

This system is designed to add to your convenience and aid you in the use of our "WANT AD" columns. And, as will be readily seen, it does away with the annoyance experienced by the readers of "WANT ADS" in newspapers which do not use a method as complete as The Constitution's, in locating the particular offer for which they are searching.

On the first page of the "WANT AD" Section will be found an index showing the page and column in which the different classifications are to be found.

The larger classifications have been subdivided for your convenience, as follows:

HELP WANTED—Male

Stores and Offices
Professions and Trades
Salesmen and Solicitors
Agents
Miscellaneous

HELP WANTED—Female

Stores and Offices
Domestics
Saleswomen and Solicitors
Agents
Miscellaneous

FOR RENT—Rooms

Unfurnished—North Side
Unfurnished—South Side
Furnished—North Side
Furnished—South Side
Furnished or Unfurnished

REAL ESTATE—For Sale

Business District
Residence District
Suburban
Farm Lands
Timber Lands

Similar sub-classifications have already been arranged where necessary, and others will be added when advisable.

Under this arrangement every advertisement will be placed under the classification where it rightfully belongs.

It will not be necessary for you, when looking for business property under "REAL ESTATE—For Sale—Business District" for instance, to be bored with an account of the excellence of Prof. Dodo's method of instruction on the piccolo, for that information may be found under the classification "MUSIC and DANCING," where of course you would look, if you were at all interested in taking lessons on the piccolo.

Mr. Man Out-of-a-Job, who needs work badly, and is searching the "HELP WANTED" columns for a situation, will not have to read about the superior tables in the Umtump Pool Parlors, or the charm of some new drink—for these advertisements will appear under suitable classifications, but he will find only offers of positions, one or more of which may be just to his liking.

This idea will be followed throughout all classifications.

Advertisers will, of course, at once see the wisdom of The Constitution's system, for it means to them greatly increased returns for the money expended.

They will agree that a man who is seriously looking for a job, for instance, is not a very good prospect for a pool parlor, etc.

Another innovation is the "Too Late to Classify" column which will be found in the main news section every Sunday. In future The Constitution will close its regular classified forms for Sunday's paper at 10 P. M. Saturday night. Any "WANT ADS" received after that hour will appear in the "Too Late to Classify" column.

But the most interesting fact about The Constitution's "WANT AD" columns is that every advertisement appearing in these columns is paid for by the advertiser.

Therefore every advertisement means business.

The Constitution does not give away its advertising space, nor does it offer prizes to induce people to solicit "WANT ADS" for it.

The Constitution stands on the record it has made during the forty-five years of its life, and sells its space at a fair price to one and all alike.

The Constitution knows as well as the public that---

Farms and Farmers

Address all letters intended for this Department to Col. R. J. Redding, Editor of Farms and Farmers Department, Griffin, Georgia.

From Cotton Squares to Open Bolls.

The cotton crop, while now (August 8) in a very flourishing condition, is very "spotted" as to size of plants and age of the same. On many farms in Georgia and the Atlantic states much of the cotton did not show above ground until the last week in May, and even as late as early in June. I will not now discuss the fact that the stands are bad on many entire farms throughout large sections of the country.

In view of the present conditions, particularly the lateness of a large proportion of the crop, it may not be out of place to reproduce an article written by me and published in The Constitution of July 24, 1911, as follows:

From Square to Bloom and Bloom to Open Boll.

It is interesting (and of some practical value) to note the number of days from the first appearance of a cotton square to the open bloom, and from the open bloom to the open boll. The following are the results of some careful observations I made in the fall of 1910 on a vigorous average stalk of cotton. The squares were counted and dates recorded as soon as they were distinguishable as squares, and it was assumed that they actually existed three days earlier than the day they were recognized. The observations were begun August 1, as to appearance of squares, and continued until August 16, inclusive.

Of the squares appearing August 1 the average date of the appearance of the whole bloom was August 23, a period of twenty-eight days. These resulted in open bolls in forty-nine days, or from square to open boll the period was an average of seventy-seven days. According to this the following table will show the history of an average square from three days before its actual visible appearance to the date of the opening of the boll.

A square of August 1 will bloom August 29, equal to twenty-eight days, and the boll will open October 17, equal to forty-nine days. Total period from square to open boll seventy-seven days, or eleven weeks.

A square appearing five days later, or on August 6, will bloom September 3 and the boll will open October 22.

A square appearing five days later, or on August 11, will bloom September ber 8, and the boll will open October 27.

A square appearing five days later, or on August 16, will bloom September 13, and will open boll November 1.

It should be remembered that these periods were averages of one selected average stalk in one season, the conditions being fairly favorable. It may be fairly assumed, therefore, as the average facts as to blooming and opening of bolls, of an average fall season. From this one may conclude that most, if not all, of the squares appearing later than August 16 will be caught by a killing or blighting frost at about the average date, or say November 1. The killing frost in 1910 occurred October 29 and 30, but the average date of killing frost at the altitude and latitude of Griffin, Ga., is about November 5. It will be apparent then that the further growth and development of a stalk of cotton after about August 15 to 20—so far as the formation of new squares is concerned—will avail nothing in adding to the yield. It is true, however, that the favorable conditions after the continued formation of squares are much to be desired for the reason that this continued vitality of the plant will contribute to the young bolls, and the squares appearing before that date, and which will have ample time to develop into perfect open bolls if such favorable conditions shall be prominent.

This promotion may be aided by a rather late but very shallow cultivation of the soil, and by occasional light showers of rain. Deep plowing is to be avoided because the effect of it is to enfeeble rather than invigorate. The cutting of the roots is apt to be followed by a renewed growth of new roots from the cut extremities, a shedding of young bolls, then a renewal of weed growth and the formation of new squares after it is too late for them to mature into open bolls.

From the above it seems that squares just visible on August 11 will be in bloom about September 8, and open bolls about October 27.

Squares formed August 16 will be in white bloom September 13 and open bolls November 1.

Of course, the date of first killing frost is a very controlling factor in determining the final yield of a late crop, in full tide of blooming during the latter half of August and the first half of September. Bolls fully grown and well "speckled," but not open at date of first killing frost will open many of them and yield fairly good cotton if the frost be followed by a week or two of open, dry weather.

We may safely conclude, therefore, that any additional growth of "weed" and formation of squares after about August 15 will fail of perfect and full fruition in the latitude of Griffin, Ga. It would probably increase the yield of a crop to pinch off the tips of the stems and growing branches of the cotton plants between August 15 and 20, or thereabout, whether the increased yield would pay for the labor expended is another question. Somebody try the experiment and report results.

R. J. REDDING, Griffin, Ga.

ISTHMIAN WATERWAY NEARS COMPLETION

Reports Indicate That Canal May Be Ready for Shipping by December.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Latest reports from canal zone announce that as the result of prospective submittal of dredges for steamshovels in the excavation of the famous Culebra cut, the canal may be ready for shipping by next December. Even earlier than that, light draft vessels are likely to be able to pass through the waterway, for as the greater part of the canal prism already has been cut to its final depth, small vessels probably can navigate it safely within a few days after October 10 next, when the Gamboa locks are to be thrown open, admitting to the Culebra level the great store of water in Gatun lake.

The thirty-four steamshovels now in the cut handle only 800,000 cubic yards of earth and rock per month, which output will be greatly reduced as the depth of the cut increases and the available room for shoveling is reduced.

Colonel Goethals, however, has assembled a dredges, with a capacity of 1,500,000 cubic yards, and these will be floated in the cut as soon as the dike is destroyed. Meanwhile, not content with digging away at the base of the cut, the engineers, in their haste to open up the waterway, have begun to tear away the top of the hills with great jets of water under high pressure, sending the earth into the bed of the canal, whence it is being swept up by pneumatic dredges and pumps and discharged into ravines and valleys so far away that it can never wash back.

THREE ARE INJURED WHEN CAR OVERTURNS

Ralph Sims Has an Arm Broken in Accident and Two Young Ladies Are Hurt.

Mystery surrounds an overturned touring car at the junction of the Hapeville and Brown Mill roads, near the county line. Sometime between 11 and 12 o'clock Saturday night the car, driven by Ralph Sims, left the road and went down a 24-foot embankment. The car is a big Cole "20," No. 21450, said to be the property of Claude E. Sims, a prominent Atlantan.

As a result of the accident, Ralph Sims, a brother of Claude Sims, is laid up at his home on Peachtree road with a broken arm, and two young ladies, whose names have been withheld, are at the Davis and Fisher sanitarium. Claude Sims left the car Sunday to go to Blue Ridge.

It is said that he and Ralph Sims, together with the two young ladies, were in the car at the time of the accident. When the county police went to the scene of the affair, early Sunday morning, a coat and hat were found by the side of the overturned car, and in the coat pockets were a number of letters addressed to Claude E. Sims.

When a reporter phoned to the residence of John N. Sims on Peachtree road Sunday night, it was stated that Ralph Sims had been badly hurt in an auto accident, and could not come to the phone.

At the Davis and Fisher sanitarium Sunday afternoon the special nurse having charge of the two young ladies who were injured admitted that they had been hurt in an auto accident. The nurse refused to give their names.

Dr. F. M. Sutton, who attended the young ladies, said that their condition was not serious.

LARGE NAVAL STORES EXPORTING COMPANY HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Savannah, Ga., August 10.—(Special.) The organization of the Turpentine and Rosin Export company, a concern with heavy financial backing, which will undertake to handle as much as possible of the business of the recently suspended American Naval Stores company, was effected at Jacksonville Saturday, according to prominent naval stores operators who returned to Savannah today.

The following officers were elected: president, D. M. Flynn, Jacksonville; vice president, J. A. G. Carson, Savannah; second vice president, W. J. Kelly, Jacksonville; secretary and treasurer, F. E. Rogien, Jacksonville. Directors: M. G. Wade, John E. Harris, M. M. Flynn, W. F. Coachman, W. J. Kelly and D. R. McNeill, of Jacksonville; J. A. G. Carson, H. L. Kayton, J. B. Rogers, of Savannah, and H. G. Eastburn, of Wilmington, Del.

The company is capitalized at $1,000,000, and promises to be the most important factor in the naval stores of the important centers of the world. Agencies will be opened in all The company will have joint headquarters in Savannah and Jacksonville. The recent failure of the American created the necessity for a large marketing concern, a company with unlimited capital, and the Turpentine and Rosin Export company is calculated to take that concern's place in the trade.

In view of the future of the operators to unite in a movement to curtail the naval stores' crop, J. A. G. Carson said today it will be up to the individual producers to shut down early for a few years. That many individual producers will do this is Mr. Carson's belief. Each operator will have to deal with his banker in his individual capacity and the judgment of the banker will go a long way toward influencing the producer.

LEADING DEMOCRATS SUMMONED BY DEATH

Washington, August 10.—Committees to attend the funerals of two members of the democratic national committee were named today by Homer S. Cummings, vice chairman of the committee. Clark Howell, Georgia; William D. Jelks, Alabama, and William N. Kavanaugh, Arkansas, will represent the committee at the obsequies for R. E. L. Mountcastle, committeeman from Tennessee, who died Friday at Knoxville. Those selected to attend the funeral of Mountcastle were J. M. McCue, of Colorado, who died Saturday in Denver, are Martin J. Wade, Iowa; P. L. Hall, Nebraska, and William F. Sapp, Kansas.

ENVOY LIND ENTERS GEN. HUERTA'S LAIR

Lind's connection with them, it was stated, would not be apparent. His mission, it was explained, is to substitute unofficially for Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, whose personal views of the Mexican controversy were so pronounced as to make it necessary for the administration here to communicate them through him.

Further enlightenment as to the errand of Mr. Lind and the policy the president has formed came tonight from Senator Bacon, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, who declared that President Wilson was feeling "a great responsibility" in the present situation, and had the hearty support and co-operation of the senate. Of course, he cannot now be expected to go into all details. In the first place, some of the details away at the scene of the work, and depend in a measure, on developments and the information which is to be derived from the second place, some matters of detail, if given out in advance in the present delicate situation will defeat the very ends sought to be accomplished.

One of the principal objects of Mr. Lind's mission is to settle the question of a capable and reliable man who has not been identified with either faction in this controversy, and upon such information future action, in a measure, will naturally be based.

Some Divergencies of Opinion. "There are some divergencies of opinion in the committee. It could not be otherwise. Some few favor more drastic measures than others. The committee generally sympathizes with the president's desire to avoid intervention or anything that will produce war. Of course, however, who favor drastic measures have confidence in the president and are supporting him in his policy. I think, with a few exceptions, there is no disposition to draw party lines. I think that is true of both republicans and democrats in the committee and in the senate generally."

The president manifested a strong desire to have the co-operation of the committee and of the senate and frankly said he would be very glad to have any suggestion from them either as individuals or as a body and would welcome their assistance. The senators seemed to be of that frank statement on his part.

"While there is a small element in this country that would like to see war, the large majority of the people deprecate it most earnestly and thoroughly sympathize with the desire of the president to avoid it."

No Secrecy on Part of Wilson. "There is no secrecy on the part of the president. He has a general policy in his mind and the general methods he is trying to employ. While generalities can be safely said, there are some matters of detail which in a delicate situation of this kind cannot be prematurely made public. Everybody realizes that is a difficult question to handle and the strongest expressions upholding the president are heard from senators as well as from civilians both in private conversation and on the floor of the senate."

There never was a greater responsibility on a man than now rests on the president of the United States to guard this country against being involved in war on the coast of Mexico, and I believe that it is the duty of every man, inside and out of congress, who has confidence in the integrity and capacity of the president, to hold up his hands in the efforts he is making, and to do as little as possible to embarrass him in working out successfully the difficult undertaking."

To Be Guided by Lind. Secretary Bryan said the state department for several hours today, but except for the messages confirming reports of Mr. Lind's movements, there was no information forthcoming.

From other sources it was learned that the administration will carry out its program as originally planned, being guided by Mr. Lind's reports on the situation. It was stated authoritatively that the American government has no intention of calling on President Huerta to resign his office, and that any representations made would beto call attention to earlier promises for a free and constitutional election, pointing out that recognition by the United States must be withheld until such elections take place.

AMERICAN CITIZENS OUT OF DANGER ZONE

Washington, D. C., August 10.—Safe removal of American citizens desiring to leave the danger zone in Mexico, the state department today reported to the navy department today, by Rear Admiral Cowles, commanding the American Pacific fleet, from Guaymas, Mex.

The refugees are being taken care of on the cruiser Pittsburgh and the supply ship Glacier and will be sent to the United States, according to Admiral Cowles' wireless dispatch.

The local agents reported the admiral "have delivered over to L. H. Morrison to the commander of the Pittsburgh for transportation to the United States and William Zierick, now being taken care of on the Glacier, will go north on that ship. The consul made all arrangements for the transportation from Empalme to Guaymas of Mrs. C. G. White and Mrs. H. I. Martin, in order to take them to the United States."

MARTIAL LAW IN FORCE TO AWE THE STRIKERS

Thirty Thousand Italian Troops Find It Difficult to Keep Order at Milan.

Milan, August 10.—Today was the seventh day of the general strike here. Although a state of siege has not been proclaimed the workmen's quarters are occupied by troops and martial law virtually is in full force. There are 30,000 troops here. Strong contingents of infantry, supported by cavalry and artillery, hold strategic points, and prevent the strikers from reaching the center of the city. Thousands of persons have been arrested.

The movement is changing from an economic to a political one, like that of 1908, and the leaders are encouraging the separatist ideas, arguing that Lombardy, a most prosperous region, is unjustly being made to support the poorer districts of the south. Pope Plus is discouraging the clergy and Catholics generally from sympathizing with the separatist agitation.

Today the Milan Street Railway company succeeded in sending out ninety-eight cars, guarded by soldiers. The strikers threw paving stones, pelted them on the tracks and otherwise attempted to erect barricades, but were dispersed by cavalry.

Numerous acts of vandalism were committed today. The newspapers continue to appear, the printers having refused to strike. Fifty thousand strikers held a meeting today, and after listening to inflammatory speeches, decided to continue the general strike. It was also decided to organize the movement throughout the kingdom and to proclaim a one-day strike in every city and town this week.

Inexperience.
